VOL. 93. NO. 72. (62nd Year.) ST. LOUIS, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1940—14 PAGES PRICE 3 CENTS

8230 TO BE CALLED UP HERE BY JUNE 30 FOR DRAFT SERVICE

City and County to Supply 34.8 Pct. of Missouri's Entire Allotment of 23,618 Men.

145 IN FIRST ST. LOUIS QUOTA, 292 IN STATE

Two Indicted for Failure to Register—First of Such Charges by U. S. Grand Jury in This Area.

Draft quotas up to next June 30 will take 8230 men from St. Louis and St. Louis County for a year of training in the army. This will constitute 34.8 per cent of the total Missouri quota of 23,618 men for the same period.

The quotas, announced at State draft headquarters at Jefferson City today, include the initial November call for 145 men from the city and county and 292 from the rest of the State.

First indictments here for violation of the Selective Service Act, naming two St. Louis men, were returned by the United States grand jury yesterday.

From St. Louis and St. Louis County the quota to June 30, which will be the end of the fiscal year, will be 5.9 per cent of the registration of 137,920, while from the State as a whole the quota will be 5.4 per cent of the registration of 438,418. The quota list constituted the first exact announcement of Missouri's enrollment of men of draft age, 21 through 35, following transfers about the country of registration cards of men who registered away from home.

The quota figures above are net, after subtracting credits for men already in the nation's armed forces. For the city and county the gross quota was 16,475, but there was a credit of 8245, so that the net quota was only 49.9 per cent of the gross. Gross quota for all Missouri was 52,420, from which was subtracted 28,802 for Missourians in the National Guard, army, navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard, leaving the net quota, which was 45.0 per cent of the gross.

Figures for the City.

Figures for the city of St. Louis are: Registration, 104,846; gross quota, 12,517; credit for men in the armed forces, 6277; net quota to end of June, 6240. For the ocunty: Registration, 33,074; gross quota, 3958; credit, 1968; net quota, 1990.

By local draft districts in St. Louis and St. Louis County, the credits and net quotas are:

Ward 1, credit 256, quota 267; Ward 2, credit 174, quota 167; Ward 3, credit 170, quota 159; Ward 4, credit 183, quota 176; Ward 5, credit 154, quota 136; Ward 6, credit 162, quota 145; Ward 7, credit 195, quota 192; Ward 8, credit 242; quota 222; Ward 9, credit 181, quota 173; Ward 10, credit 174, quota 163; Ward 11, credit 203, quota 202 Ward 12, credit 221, quota 228; Ward 13A, credit 202, quota 201.

For Adjoining Counties.

For adjoining counties figures are: St. Charles, 2832 registrants, credit 158, quota 181; Franklin, 4025 registrants, credit 235, quota 247; Jefferson, 4033 registrants, credit 384, quota 97.

Similarly, figures for other large centers are: Kansas City, 48,275 registrants, credit 3149, quota 2619; rest of Jackson County, 9489 registrants, credit 192, quota 245; Buchanan County (St. Joseph), 9455 registrants, credit 630, quota 502; Greene County (Springfield), 10,170 registrants, credit 689, quota

Five-Day Cold Spell Severest On Record Here for This Early

Average Temperature 26.4 Degrees, 4.3 Below Normal Mean of Jan. 12-18, Which Is City's Coldest "Seasonable" Weather.

St. Louisans who thought they noticed this week's cold spell because it came so early in the season were about 50 per cent right, Assistant Meteorologist H. C. Gross said today, pleasantly announcing "fair and warmer."

The five-day siege that blew in on a full gale—63 miles an hour, measured at the Lambert-St. Louis Field—was the coldest that ever hit St. Louis this early since the official record began in 1873. And it would have been a cold wave for any time of the year, added Gross, "except right after a midwinter extreme."

Coldest "seasonable" weather in St. Louis, he explained, falls in the week of Jan. 12-18, when normal mean temperature is 30.7 degrees. That is 4.3 degrees above the perhaps literally "mean" temperature since last Sunday midnight, even taking in the 60-degree maximum then when the mercury was about to drop at a rate exceeding five degrees an hour.

Ordinarily, Gross added, this sort of cold wave isn't to be expected until next month. The only one like it any time in November in the 67 years of record began Nov. 17, 1880, and set the November day record of 8 above zero, Nov. 19. Once in first half of the month, on Nov. 12, 1911, the temperature fell one degree below yesterday's 13-degree minimum.

The weather that brought minor calamity to St. Louis gardeners and motorists and hardship to homeless men, caused many deaths further north. Snow blocked highways and railroads. Winds recorded at 78 miles an hour drove Great Lake steamers aground and swamped dozens of small boats on northern streams and lakes. Motorists, hunters and sailors were stranded, exposed to temperatures that fell to zero and below as far south as Missouri.

In Minnesota, where thousands of motorists were snowbound, 12 were reported dead Monday night. Through the Midwesct, at least 28 duck hunters perished when capsizing boats threw them into icy waters or left them marooned. Snow drove ducks southward, but the cold wave caught up with hunters who turned out by hundreds in Southern Missouri and Arkansas. Freezing temperatures occurred all the way down to Northern Florida.

St. Louisans found hardy chrysanthemums looking fair from sufficient distance but plainly through for the year. Shaw's Garden, with chrysanthemums indoors reaching their best in the big annual show, was prepared. The tropical waterlilies were moved indoors last week.

MISS PERKINS SAYS DEFENSE WILL PROVIDE 6 MILLION JOBS

Peak of Employment to Be Reached About 1942, Secretary of Labor States.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP). — Secretary of Labor Perkins said last night that national defense needs would provide jobs for 6,000,000 men and women within a year and that the employment increase would "break the backbone of the unemployment situation." Her estimate did not include agricultural employment.

In an address before the Eighth Metropolitan Conference on Employment and Guidance of the Welfare Council of New York City, she said that the peak of employment would not be reached until about 1942.

NAZI MUNITIONS TRAIN BOMBED, 500 FRENCH HOMES WRECKED

VICHY, Nov. 16 (AP).—News reaching here today from Le Havre, German-held port, said British bombs had exploded a German munitions train, destroying 500 homes in Graville, a suburb, and causing a large number of casualties. Gasoline plants also were reported demolished.

DEFENSE BOARD MAY TAKE HAND IN VULTEE STRIKE

Summons to Capital Indicated if Plane Concern and Union Refuse to Arbitrate Pay Dispute.

DOWNEY, Cal., Nov. 16 (AP).—Machinery which has been operating 24 hours a day remained idle today in the strike-bound Vultee aircraft plant, while Government "trouble shooters" worked to get management and union into new settlement conferences.

The first day of the first airplane plant strike since the national defense program began passed without disorder. CIO United Automobile Workers' Union pickets blocked the plant's seven gates. Inside, 20 planes scheduled for completion yesterday remained on the line.

Non-union production members did not attempt to enter after company officers announced the factory, with orders on hand for $50,000,000 in military aircraft, was closed.

Look to Washington.

A Vultee spokesman said, "We expect the next move to come from Washington."

There, Defense Commission officials indicated that if arbitration is refused, representatives of both sides might be summoned to the capital for further negotiations. Sidney Hillman, commission member in charge of labor problems, was reported to be watching developments closely and there were reports that a decision on the summons might be expected shortly.

Also indicative of the Government's interest was assignment of the veteran Labor Department conciliation expert, Capt. Edward H. Fitzgerald, to the strike. The department sent Lyman H. Sisley here Wednesday, but his preliminary conferences failed to forestall the walkout.

Union Meeting.

Union leaders called a general meeting today, at which the membership is expected to be asked to approve return to 75 cents an hour as the basic wage demand. Vultee at present pays 50 cents. The union first demanded 75, then reduced the figure to 65. The company offered a boost to 55 cents

College Guns Reclaimed for Defense But Courthouse Cannon Are Spared

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP). — The army shot to pieces today the rumor that the cannon on the country's court house lawns might be wrenched from their peaceful petunia beds and carted back to Washington for national defense.

Some field pieces, such as the one the Government gave Colorado State College in 1919, are being asked for. But these guns are usable, most of them being of the "French 75" design, it is said.

As a part of the defense program, the army plans to overhaul them. They will have new carriages so they can be towed in motorized units and when this streamlining is over, mechanics will go to work on the firing features.

Experts say that with a little labor and material the range of many of these guns can be stepped up and they can be made more maneuverable.

This type of gun, the army said, is not now decorating civic plots, but is principally in use in National Guard and school R. O. T. C. units.

Practically all the courthouse cannon are weapons too old or too far gone for repair. Many of them are relics of the Civil and Spanish-American Wars.

GREEKS DRIVING FASCISTS BACK AT BAYONET POINT

Artillery and Planes Also Used in Advance All Along 100-Mile Front, Athens Says.

BERLIN, Nov. 16 (AP).

GERMANY, to avoid possible complications, is gradually withdrawing its 8000 nationals in Greece, authorized sources indicated today. Those living in Greek cities already subjected to air attacks, such as Salonika, are being recalled first.

These measures were described as practical and not political. Greek-German relations will continue as before, authoritative sources asserted.

ATHENS, Nov. 16 (AP).—At bayonet point and with artillery and bombing planes, the Greeks were reported today to be driving the Italians back all along the 100-mile battlefront.

The official Athens radio announced to the people:

"The enemy has been dislodged from all positions. The organized defense can hardly withstand the Greek attacks for more than a few hours!"

At many points Greek troops were said in dispatches from the front to be pushing farther into Albania. It was one of the heaviest day's actions of the war, and an Athens newspaper reported that the Greek fleet had joined in with a bombardment of the retreating Italians behind the lines.

Drive Toward Albanian Port.

Greek columns were said to be smashing into the Italians westward from big Presba Lake and down the Boitusa River Valley toward the Albanian port of Valona.

Reliable sources said the Greeks threatened to cut the Italian forces in Albania into three parts and encircle thousands of Fascists. So hard-pressed were the Italians that they were reported to have withdrawn their forces along the Yugoslav frontier. (Six words censored).

Military experts said this withdrawal, combined with the Greek offensive from the region of Lake Presba and Koritzka, in the southeastern corner of Albania, was destroying any plan the Italians may have had of using a route across Southern Yugoslavia toward the Greek port of Salonika.

Greek army men claimed the capture of 700 Fascist soldiers and 10 heavy guns.

The Italians were reported to be having difficulty mustering sufficien troops to meet the flank attack from Lake Presba as they were heavily harassed by a third Greek force driving straight up the Ionian coast from the islands to the south.

(Presumably thi- drive also was aimed at Porto Edda and Valona, thus threatening the Italians with a pincers movement.

British Raid Island Bases.

Reports from the south indicated British air attacks on Italian bases in the Dodecanese Islands, off the Turkish coast, were increasing in violence.

Travelers from Turkey said many of the islands already were suffering from lack of food and munitions as a result of the British sea blockade, which has been tightened by occupation of Crete, and enables the British to extend their lines from Greece to Egypt.

Intense infantry, artillery and air activity was reported in all sectors, and Greek bombers were said to have blasted Italian troops in action in addition to shooting down three Fascist planes. Two Greek planes were reported to have been lost.

The Italian guns were understood to have been taken in the recapture of an important hill, while the prisoners were said to have surrendered in the Kalamas

EDITOR GAYDA SAYS U.S. WAS UNNEUTRAL EVEN BEFORE WAR

ROME, Nov. 16 (AP).—Virginio Gayda, the Fascist editor, asserted today the United States was not neutral even before the war and some day would see "if its blind evaluations" of the European situation, along with its aid to Britain, had not caused the United States "political and economic damage."

He criticised American newspapers for their comment on Italian naval casualties and said an Axis victory was certain.

500 PLANES BOMB LONDON; NAZIS SCUTTLE FREIGHTER INTERCEPTED OFF MEXICO

Famous Cathedral Razed by Nazi Bombs

CENTRAL CITY HIT, HEAVY CASUALTIES INDICATED

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP).—Relays of heavy bombers stormed the defenses of London early tonight after a raidless day on the capital.

The attack got under way as the city's millions still talked about last night's heaviest assault of the air war, in which 500 planes were estimated to have been thrown against the city in an apparent effort to repeat the crushing tactics which they employed against Coventry Thursday night.

It was announced officially late today that 200 persons were killed and 800 injured in the bombardment of Coventry between sunset Thursday and daybreak Friday.

One formation alone of 80 planes was seen in last night's assault on London, which a British Press Association correspondent said was "on a grand scale."

Two churches, a sanatorium and a large school building in a south coast town were destroyed. Bright moonlight, which undoubtedly aided the Axis bombers in spotting their targets, also provided light for rescue workers.

Direct Hit on Convent.

In last night's attack on London, a convent in the outskirts received a direct hit. The nuns, sheltered in the basement, narrowly escaped death when the residential wing of the building and the refectory were demolished.

Great civilian casualties were feared as explosives and fire bombs rained down through rifts in the clouded sky and shattered apartment buildings, shops and homes.

A Government communique which described the bombing as "heavy and sustained" declared that "in view of the weight of the attack" the number of dead and injured was smaller than "might have been expected."

While London echoed with the roar of bombs and the staccato bark of anti-aircraft guns, the red glow of fires in ruined Coventry guided other Nazi bombers to new attacks on England's industrial Midlands.

A communique, however, said "little damage and few casualties have been reported" from bombed Midlands communities.

Towns near London and in Southwestern England also were raided.

Many Fires in London.

London's ground guns, credited with having beaten back several attacks early in the night, failed to stop the renewed onslaught after midnight. A communique said, however, many of the bombers were kept so high that "accurate bombing was impossible."

ITALIANS REPORT FORMER AMERICAN DESTROYER SUNK

Vessel, One of 50 Traded to Britain, Sent Down by Submarine in Atlantic, Fascists Say.

ROME, Nov. 16 (AP).—Il Giornale d'Italia said today that an Italian submarine in the Atlantic has sunk a former United States destroyer—one of 50 traded to the British for naval and air bases.

The vessel was the "enemy destroyer" referred to by the high command today as having been sunk in the Atlantic, it said. The high command, however, did not identify it as a former American vessel.

The newspaper also asserted that a British battleship of the 29,000-ton Ramillies type had been sunk by another Italian submarine. The high command's communique yesterday said a warship of the Ramillies class had been hit by three torpedoes, but did not claim the ship went down. The British said the report of the sinking was untrue.

Mass British air attacks on the Italian Adriatic port of Brindisi, across the strait from Albania, were admitted by the high command, as the British continued to support the Greeks by pounding Italy's southern ports and bases.

Heavy anti-aircraft fire, the communique said, forced the British to drop nearly all their bombs in the sea or country. Some fires and damage were acknowledged, how-

SPAIN RESCINDS ORDER BARRING U. S. REPORTERS FROM SENDING OUT NEWS

MADRID, Nov. 16 (AP).

THE Spanish Government today lifted its order, issued yesterday, which barred the United States press from operating in Spain. Correspondents were told that their situation would remain normal.

The announcement followed a visit to the Foreign Office by United States Ambassador Alexander Weddell. No details of this conference were given out.

The bar on American reporters was announced yesterday, to take effect probably Monday, as a reprisal for what Spanish officials said was the United States' failure to permit correspondents of Efe, the official Spanish news agency, to enter America. (The State Department in Washington said no such permission had been requested.)

Cifra, Efe's parent news agency, said application of the bar had been "postponed" on "assurances that there is no hostility on the part of United States authorities toward the Spanish agency Efe."

3 OTHER GERMAN VESSELS PUT BACK INTO TAMPICO AFTER 4 WARSHIPS SIGNAL

BERLIN, Nov. 16 (AP).

FOREIGN newspaper correspondents today were shown an indexed map of Coventry, taken from the air, which they were told demonstrated how the German general staff works in its bombing operations.

While lines marked each military objective—airplane factories, munitions plants and others.

Captain Says Ship Was Sent to Bottom After Flares, 'Probably From Canadians,' Called for Surrender.

TAMPICO, Mexico, Nov. 16 (AP). —Capt. J. Schurt of the German freighter Phrygia said today that the vessel had been scuttled by its crew after having been signaled by warship flares to surrender.

Earlier port authorities had quoted him as saying that four warships, "probably Canadian," had fired on the Phrygia some five miles off the coast, but the captain said in explanation that the interpreter had misunderstood him. The warships only fired flares ordering him to surrender, he said.

The Phrygia, 4137 tons, was one of four German freighters which sought to flee from their wartime refuge here last night. Of the three others, the 9660-ton Orinoco put back into harbor ostensibly because of engine trouble and the Idarwald and Rhein followed suit. Crew members of the scuttled ship were picked up by the Orinoco.

Waterfront reports said searchlight beams, apparently from a warship, had been seen southeastward of the harbor in the night, shortly after the ships started leaving.

The commander of Mexico's Vera Cruz naval district, which includes Tampico, said that a Mexican patrol boat, the Queretaro, sailed last night with the German vessels under "secret orders." He declined to comment further.

A furious storm was whipping up the gulf waters when the first of the ships put out to sea about 10 o'clock last night. By midnight the other three had sailed. Two hours later the Phrygia was reported on fire and the Orinoco turning back.

FARMER SHOOTS HIMSELF IN FEAR OF BEING DRAFTED

WARSAW, Ill., Nov. 16 (AP).—Fred Gerdes, 31 years old, shot himself to death yesterday because, his father testified, he feared he would be drafted for a year's military training.

Dick Gerdes, a farmer, told a Coroner's jury that his son had brooded since the draft lottery and became almost despondent on receiving his selective service questionnaire.

The son, unmarried, also was a farmer and lived with his parents.

'WINTER OF OUR DISCONTENT'

Londoners Agree Shakespeare's Line Summed Up Situation.

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP).—Londoners agree that William Shakespeare, who lived long before the age of air bombardments, summed up Britain's 1940 situation pretty well with this line from "Richard the Third": "Now is the winter of our discontent."

A matinee crowd in a London theater roared with laughter yesterday when an actor read the line.

By ALFRED WALL

COVENTRY, England, Nov. 16 (AP).—King George personally brought words of sympathy and assurance of an empire's support today to stricken Coventry—blasted to a smoking, shattered shell by a Nazi air raid.

Taking the surviving townsmen by surprise, the grave-faced khaki-clad King pulled up before the town hall in his big car which had threaded its way through debris-strewn streets.

A knot of persons gathered around him with a British cheer, "Hip, hip, hooray." The King smiled.

Saluting, he made his way through the crowd as red-faced policemen, tired from long hours of duty, cried, "are we downhearted?" "No," roared the throng.

The King conferred with local officials on emergency relief for the ruined industrial city. Then he toured the devastated areas. A look of horror crossed his face as he stepped into the ruins of old St. Michael's Cathedral. Standing on a heap of still-smoking rubble he spoke gravely to the provost, the Very Rev. R. T. Howard.

The provost said he had tried desperately to save the cathedral. His squad extinguished 12 fires started by incendiary bombs before their sand and water supply gave out.

Squads of home guards and police are clearing the streets of wreckage. A heavy pall of smoke still hangs over the scene. Rescue workers and survivors still face the constant threat of falling buildings and delayed action bombs.

TODAY'S WAR NEWS

LONDON—London has new raid after being attacked last night by 500 German planes; apartments and shops wrecked, many casualties indicated; King visits bomb-devastated Coventry; R. A. F. and navy planes bomb German air bases from France to Norway, attack Kiel and Hamburg naval bases.

BRITAIN'S OFFER VIEWED AS STILL BELOW MINIMUM SOVIET DEMANDS

Moscow Insistent on De Jure Recognition of Baltic Acquisition as Opposed to De Facto Recognition.

DIPLOMATIC LEAK DISCLOSES TERMS

Confirmation Raises Question Whether Molotov's Trip to Berlin Has Convinced English Further Negotiations Are Futile.

By HELEN KIRKPATRICK

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The terms which Britain offered to Russia on Oct. 22 in exchange for benevolent neutrality were disclosed here last night through a diplomatic leak.

Now it is confirmed officially by the Foreign Office that the British Government had made three promises, in the course of discussions between Ambassador Sir Stafford Cripps and Soviet Vice-Foreign Commissar Andrey Vishinsky.

1. That the British Government was prepared to grant de facto recognition of Russia's acquisition of the Baltic states.

2. That Russia would be admitted as an equal to any peace conference held after the war.

3. That Britain would not be associated with any attack on Russia.

No Reply From Moscow.

Britain's willingness to grant these three conditions, among others, was officially communicated to Russia Oct. 22, but so far there has been no reply from Moscow, according to the official British statement.

Once again it would seem that the British are offering less than they know to be Russia's minimum demands which included, primarily, de jure recognition of the Baltic states' inclusion in the Soviet Union.

Informed quarters, commenting on the visit of Soviet Premier-Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov to Berlin this week, seem to feel that it was reminiscent of the visit of German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop to Moscow a few weeks after Britain's final offer to Russia last summer.

Soviet Procedure.

It appears to many quarters here that Russian procedure is to get terms from one side and then to see if it cannot do better with the other side.

What the Russian reaction will be to this disclosure of the terms of the British offer will be interesting to learn, since it apparently was agreed between Sir Stafford and Vishinsky that the entire negotiations would be conducted in secrecy and no terms made public.

The London News-Chronicle's diplomatic correspondent asks whether the revelation of the terms means that "the British Government had decided that, as a result of the visit to Berlin of Molotov, nothing further could be hoped for from continuance of the Anglo-Russian discussions."

MUM WITNESS PLEADS NAZI SECRECY, FOUND IN CONTEMPT

California Plaintiff Says Answers Would Violate His Oath as Reichsbank Agent.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 16 (AP).—Samuel Hansen, 58 years old, a native of Germany, was declared guilty on 22 contempt charges in Superior Court yesterday for refusal to answer questions he said would violate his oath of secrecy as an agent of the German Reichsbank.

"If I do so it will be treason and I will be shot as a traitor if I return to Germany," Hansen told Superior Judge Pierson Hall.

Hansen, plaintiff in a suit over title to a tract of land near Long Beach, which he charged was taken fraudulently from his wife while he was absent on Reichsbank business, asserted he had been threatened with death by a Gestapo agent who approached him in Reno.

Message on Empire's Anniversary Says This Will Be Done With Germany, Italy.

BERLIN, Nov. 16 (AP).—Adolf Hitler said in a message to the Japanese nation on the empire's 2600th anniversary today that it would reach its goal of successful peace in a protected living space, together with the German and Italian peoples, after a hard struggle for its vital rights.

"The Japanese people may proudly remember no enemy ever set foot on their island as master, and therefore they have maintained the purity of their race through millenniums," the message said.

REDS INDICATE RECOGNITION OF NAZI CONTROL OF SLOVAKIA

Regarded as First Result of Hitler-Molotov Talks—New German Consulates to Be Opened in Russia.

MOSCOW, Nov. 16 (AP). — Russia gave an implied recognition of Germany's protectorate over Slovakia by publishing for the first time today the German-Slovak treaty which now is nearly two years old.

The text of the treaty, in which Germany assumed a protectorate over the segment of former Czecho-Slovakia, appeared in Pravda, Communist party organ, and other official newspapers.

Recognition of Germany's protectorate was believed by diplomatic quarters to be one of the first results of Premier Vyacheslav Molotov's visit to Berlin.

At the same time it was learned Germany has established consulates at Leningrad, Vladivostok and Batum. This was taken as a sign of reaffirmed German-Soviet friendship.

The Moscow press gave prominent display to the messages Molotov sent Adolf Hitler and Joachim Von Ribbentrop on his return last night from Berlin.

It was assumed Molotov already had reported on his Berlin journey to Soseph Stalin in the Kremlin, but it was indicated that no further information concerning the Berlin talks would be forthcoming immediately.

Molotov's message to Hitler was: "On leaving German territory I request you, Mr. Reichschancellor, to accept my gratitude for the cordial reception accorded me in Germany." His message to Von Ribbentrop referred to "the broad and warm reception accorded me and my companions in the memorable days of my sojourn in Germany."

Serrano Suner on Way to Berlin for New Talks.

BERLIN, Nov. 16 (AP).—The spotlight of Axis diplomacy shifted today from Russia to Spain and Turkey.

Authorized sources said Spanish Foreign Minister Ramon Serrano Suner, unofficially reported on his way to Paris, was expected to confer in Berlin shortly on the invitation of German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop.

Informed Nazis said Serrano Suner was expected to spend two days in Paris and probably would reach Berlin early next week.

Wilhelmstrasse officials said that, because of wartime necessity for secrecy, neither the time nor place of Serrano Suner's conference with German leaders would be announced in advance.

"German diplomacy doesn't stand still," was the only comment.

Meanwhile, Huesrev Gerede, Turkish Ambassador to Berlin, was summoned to confer with his Government in Ankara. The German Ambassador to Turkey, Franz von Papen, who came home some time ago reportedly for pheasant shooting, remained here apparently on call for developments growing out of the recent German conferences with Soviet Russian Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov in Berlin.

The immediate diplomatic project in Berlin is viewed by foreign observers as an effort to drive a wedge between Britain and Turkey, whose friendship British War Minister Anthony Eden presumably attempted to tighten during his recent tour of the Mediterranean.

Spain already is considered here an Axis collaborator, at least morally, in the reported fixing of spheres of influence for Germany, Italy, Japan and Russia in Europe, Africa and Asia.

New military moves are expected as a result of the staff conference yesterday at Innsbruck between Marshal General Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German high command, and Marshal Pietro Badoglio of Italy.

CONVERTED YACHTS AND TUGS TO PATROL CANAL ZONE AREAS

30 Armed Vessels Will Be Divided to Guard Both Entries, Augment Destroyer Units.

CRISTOBAL, Canal Zone, Nov. 15 (AP).—Navy officials disclosed today that some 30 converted yachts and tugboats, armed with guns, are to be assembled in the Panama Canal area for patrol duty.

Three yachts and two tugs arrived here Thursday night and will be assigned temporarily to the Pacific entrance to the canal until enough additional boats arrive to allow dividing the forces between the two entries.

About 25 more craft are expected here within two months. Averaging about 100 tons each, they are being oufitted at various navy yards in the United States.

Destroyers regularly stationed here are remaining and possibly may be augmented by others, officers said.

ENGLAND WANTS MORE ARMS, SAYS BRITISH AGENT IN U. S.

Arthur B. Purvis, Leaving for London, Reports American Deliveries Very Good.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP). — Britain wants "weapons—all kinds of weapons," said Arthur B. Purvis, director-general of the British Purchasing Commission in this country, as he departed on the Dixie Clipper today for London to report on the millions of dollars of purchases made here since Nov. 7, 1939.

Saying deliveries by American industry had been "very good," he added emphatically that Britain wants "more and more" vital weapons, including guns, airplanes and "even ships."

Asked how many planes had been purchased in this country and delivered during his mission, he replied, "The Germans would like very much to know that." He said loss of material in transit through sinking or bombings had been negligible."

Troops on Bridge Bombed.

The Royal Air Force in Greece reported that a bridge jammed with Italian reinforcements was destroyed by British planes near Koritza yesterday. Surprised Italians were tossed into the water, the British said, adding that "casualties almost certainly were very heavy."

A British pilot who participated in the attack said "we hit the bridge fair and square, completely wrecking it. The Italian reinforcements using it suffered heavily."

Also attacked was a motor transport column in the same area, which the British said was bombed and strafed with "many casualties." A farmhouse used as an Italian army headquarters was reported to have been demolished by bombs.

Two British planes were reported lost in the day's activities.

The Ministry of Home Security charged Italian flyers had "indiscriminately" bombed cities, towns, villages and rural districts "devoid of military importance."

"In Epirus," said a communique, "enemy planes machine-gunned houses. Results of all these bombings were two children killed and three women injured among the civilian population. Damage was very slight."

CANADIAN SHIP REPORTED SUNK

Said to Have Been Victim of Nazi Sea Raider Nov. 5.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP).—Shipping circles said today the 10,042-ton Canadian Pacific Railway freighter Beaverford was one of the ships sunk by a Nazi raider in an attack on a British convoy of 38 ships Nov. 5.

The British Admiralty said all but four ships escaped.

after three months' employment, and to 60 cents three months later.

"Union members were called out despite the fact that Vultee offered to increase wages more than $1,100,000 a year, based on present employment," said Richard Millar, president of th econcern. "Within the next few months, expansion made necessary by the national defense program would double personnel. In other words, the offered pay increases, refused by the union, would amount to more than $2,000,000 a year when the expansion is completed."

L. H. Michener, international representative of the union, stated the CIO case:

"While profits in the aircraft industry are zooming sky high, the wage level is grounded far below standards in the automobile industry for work which is most comparable. This is a fact borne out by Federal Trade Commission statistics released last month.

"Workers in the automobile industry receive a minimum wage of 75 cents an hour. At Vultee the minimum is 50 cents. The average automobile rate is 98 cents, the aircraft average 62 cents. These discrepancies should not exist in two such comparable industries. Therefore, we feel our demands are just."

Crucible Steel Workers Return to Jobs, Pending Settlement.

MIDLAND, Pa., Nov. 16 (AP).—Crucible Steel Co. mills here again rolled out armament steel for the United States and British governments today after employes voted by a slim margin to end a week-long strike that had production at a standstill.

The local Steel Workers' Organizing Committee Union announced last night that 52 per cent of approximately 4300 strikers voted in favor of resuming work pending conferences with the company on several grievances, including a demand for a wage increase of 12½ cents an hour in one department.

Workmen were called back to their jobs today. A company spokesman had said Crucible would be glad to negotiate with the men, but insisted that they first return to work, "in accordance with the provisions of our contract with the SWOC that grievances be settled without resort to work stoppage."

When the huge blast furnaces were banked, Federal and State labor conciliators appeared on the scene. Conferences between them and company representatives resulted in the plan to put work resumption to a vote.

JAPANESE ARMY IN INDO-CHINA REPORTED MOVING WESTWARD

Troops Near Hanoi Said to Be Building Barracks, Indicating Permanent Occupation.

HONGKONG, Nov. 16 (AP).—The Chinese Central News Agency reported today that Japanese troops at Langson and Dongdang in northern French Indo-China were withdrawing westward to an undisclosed destination.

Japanese troops stationed at Peining and Chialing, near Hanoi, were reported to be erecting barracks, indicating a permanent occupation.

Domei, Japanese news agency, reported from Hanoi that the Indo-China Government had announced formally it was prepared to meet any contingency arising from Thailand's (Siam) territorial demands and that it was determined to guard the colony's territorial integrity.

U. S. HIGHWAY FUNDS TO GO FIRST FOR MILITARY ROADS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP).—Construction of access roads to army and navy stations is scheduled by Federal officials to have first call on future Government highway aid funds.

John M. Carmody, Federal Works Administrator, told the American Automobile Association yesterday that a preliminary estimate of needed improvements on routes leading to military and naval establishments called for 2900 miles of construction at a cost of $194,000,000.

"The immediate (Federal aid) program does not include many important projects such as the construction of express highways through cities," Carmody said, adding that the army alone had 130 cantonments for which approach roads and streets must be planned.

R.A.F. RAIDS KIEL, HAMBURG; ENEMY AIRPORTS BOMBED

Attacks Made on Bases From France to Norway —Gun Positions Across Channel Pounded.

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP).—The Royal Air Force flew through channel gales tonight to batter at the positions of Germany's long-range guns and invasion ports on the French coast.

Watchers on the English side said they saw vivid flashes for miles along the opposite shore and heard heavy explosions.

British navy pilots and those of the coastal command smashed last night at Nazi-held airdromes from Norway to Northern France while the R. A. F. made large-scale raids on German bases, including Hamburg and Kiel, official sources announced.

The far-flung coastal campaign, said the Air Ministry, left great fires blazing at Stavanger in Norway, and there were "substantial results" in assaults on other airdromes in Doullens, Cambrai, St. Malo and Rennes, France. At Rennes, an arsenal was left blazing, it was asserted. Off the Danish coast a Nazi seaplane was destroyed, the ministry reported.

The R. A. F. meanwhile was said to have made "large scale operations" against railway communications, shipyards, docks and public utilities in Hamburg.

Hamburg was reported to have been hard hit, with "many explosions and fires" in the dock and railway areas. North of the city, said the Ministry, a gas works was heavily bombed at Barmbeck.

The Kiel naval base and the ports of Ostend and Calais were assaulted in force.

Hamburg Hospital and Shipyard Building Hit, Germans Say.

BERLIN, Nov. 16 (AP).—Nazis threatened England today with another devastating air blow—similar to Thursday night's vengeful raid on Coventry—in retaliation for a British night raid on Hamburg.

The high command said a shipyard administration building and a hospital in Hamburg were hit by British bombs last night, but asserted that damage in the great port was "in no proportion with the number of attacking planes."

A number of persons were reported to have been killed in the hospital. A grain silo was fired, but immediately put out, a high command communique said.

A majority of the raiding planes were unable to break through German defenses to reach the city proper or its harbors, DNB, German official news agency, reported earlier. Waves of British planes swept in from the sea, DNB said, only to run into such a fierce barrage that most of them turned back. A "comparatively small" number of bombs was dropped over Hamburg, the news agency asserted. Two British raiders were said to have been downed in flames.

DNB said British raids caused three deaths in The Hague, The Netherlands, and six persons were wounded.

German bombers and pursuit planes dropped bombs on London-Southend, Hastings and Southampton this afternoon, DNB asserted. The agency quoted returning flyers as saying they failed to meet any British fighting planes.

German observers reported that tonight's bombings left large fires in the center of London and in the Thames bow. Large warehouses and sections of docks were hit, they said. One direct hit was reported to have destroyed a goods shed and railroad station near Paddington terminal and ripped up the rails. Fire also was observed on the docks at Southampton, said DNB.

DNB reported a low-flying mass attack on a heavily protected convoy near Loewstoft on the British coast today resulted in the sinking of a steamer of 4000 to 6000 tons with four hits.

The high command said "retaliatory attacks" on London were made last night, and hits were scored on traffic points, the Victoria docks and other war essential objectives. A 16,000-ton merchantman and one of 9300 tons were reported to have been hit and left "listing" in a bomber attack on a large British convoy about 435 miles west of Ireland. In the last two days the German air force claims to have sunk at least 42,000 tons of shipping.

Informed German quarters declared the raid on Hamburg will be revenged just as "Coventry paid" for the Nov. 8 raid on Munich. They said Coventry was attacked again last night, but on a smaller scale than Thursday night.

Several hundred planes were reported to have unloaded hundreds of tons of explosives on London last night, these sources said. One railway station in the center of London received several direct hits and an airdrome at Maidstone also was subjected to heavy attack, the Germans claimed.

3 KILLED WHEN TRAIN HITS TRUCK AT HENDRICKSON, MO.

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., Nov. 16 (AP).—Three persons were killed today when a light truck in which they were riding was struck by the Missouri Pacific's passenger train, The Southerner, at the Main street crossing in Hendrickson, a small town 12 miles north of here.

The dead were Gayle Taber, 35 years old; his bride of a month, Mrs. Irene Taber, 21, and Bennett Hillis, 26, all of Hendrickson.

FRENCH FLEET LEAVES BASE AT TOULON FOR "EXERCISES"

Reported Headed Southwest, Possibly to Tunisia or Morocco — Movement May Lead to Major Development.

By HELEN KIRKPATRICK

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Major developments in the Mediterranean may result from the sailing of the French fleet from Toulon.

Some reports say it may be going to the Far East to prevent an attack on Indo-China by Thailand (Siam). Others lead to the belief that the fleet may be heading for North Africa.

After losses at Oran and Dakar, in engagements with the British, and seizure by the British of French warships in Alexandria and other ports, France has not any formidable battle fleet but has a sufficient number of cruisers, both light and heavy, to be a nuisance.

The British have no assurance that Marshal Henri Philippe Petain's pledge of demobilizing the French fleet has been carried out. On the contrary, it is believed in neutral naval quarters here that the French have been able to repair the damage inflicted at Oran on the battleship Strasbourg which, with other warships, has been carrying out maneuvers in the Mediterranean off the coast of France.

Possible Destinations.

Reports that the French warships might be proceeding eastward seem improbable as they headed southwest. It is thought they might go to Bizerta in Tunisia.

From there, it is not impossible that they may proceed to Morocco to put down a threatened rebellion of North Africa against Vichy.

If this should be the case, the position of Britain would be, to say the least, extremely difficult. Without going to war on France, it would be impossible for the British to take effective action to prevent these warships from going to Morocco, and yet this part of Africa is most vital to the British.

The question is what Vichy has in mind for North Africa once it is under complete control.

Question of Syria.

Also, it is asked, what is happening in Syria? France's High Commissioner Puaux, there, who used to be a close friend of Georges Bonnet, has lately been believed to be a firm opponent of handing over any French territory to Italy or Germany.

Thanks to Puaux, the Italian disarmament commission in Syria has been unable to make any headway. He is now reported to have resigned, which is viewed here as meaning that he had orders from Vichy which he refused to carry out.

The loss of both Syria and North Africa to the Axis would be a serious blow, while Italian control of Syria, as the Germans show signs of beginning their push through the Balkans to Turkey, would be a heavy blow to England.

The entire British-French position is one of extreme mystery. Those who advocate strong measures, one of which would certainly be a blockade of the French Mediterranean coast and refusal to allow French warships to maneuver in that area, are baffled by the official attitude. It is possible that discussions are going on between London and Vichy.

De Gaulle Followers Reported in Great Activity in Syria.

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Nov. 16 (AP).—Well-informed circles said today that "Free French" followers of Gen. Charles de Gaulle were working feverishly in French-mandated Syria to sway opinion toward a revolt behind Gen. Maxime Weygand, Vichy-appointed military and political chief in North Africa, and Gen. Auguste Nogues, resident general and commander in Morocco.

Weygand is reported to have spoken against any surrender of empire territory to Italy and Germany.

AXIS READY FOR MILITARY ACTION IN FRENCH AFRICA, MUSSOLINI'S PAPER SAYS

ROME, Nov. 16 (AP).

PREMIER MUSSOLINI'S newspaper Il Popolo d'Italia said today that Germany and Italy were ready to take military action in France's African territory, particularly in West Africa, to prevent the British from gaining control through De Gaullist forces.

Mario Appellius, military commentator, indicated French action would be taken in Africa, and that an Axis move would follow if the Vichy Government failed to get results.

It was indicated these moves were one of the results of Adolf Hitler's talks with the French chief of state, Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, and the Vice-Premier, Pierre Laval.

500 PLANES BOMB LONDON; APARTMENTS AND SHOPS WRECKED

ing numerous fires in Central London.

"This is the worst night yet," one air raid warden said, "at least in numbers."

Several apartment buildings crumbled under direct bomb hits, rescuers dug for families in the wreckage. A boarding house was smashed and another bomb wrecked a saloon.

Two bombs hit a shop where nearly 100 persons were sheltered in the basement. One smashed through the roof of the building and the other blew in the shop front, showering debris on those inside. In the whole shelter there was only one first aid case—a woman who received a slight cut.

A four-story commercial art gallery in another part of London was smashed into a heap of debris which spread across a street, blocking traffic.

Hotel and Hospital Struck.

One large London hotel was pierced by a bomb which crashed through the roof and three floors before exploding. It caused no casualties. A bank and a suburban hospital were damaged badly by bomb explosions and fire.

In an East Anglian town all but one member of two families trapped in their bomb-hit homes were found dead. A large number of bombs fell in the residential district.

It was feared that a large number of casualties were caused by a single raider which swooped low over a south coast town, dropping four heavy caliber bombs into a densely populated district.

The Air Ministry announced that four enemy bombers were shot down over London Friday night.

A machine gun attack on two villages in the Hebrides were described as "ineffective."

Lord Beaverbrook, Minister for Aircraft production, spent yesterday inspecting raid-wrecked Coventry. This was taken by some observers as an indication of the importance the Government attaches to that factory city's part in Britain's war effort. It previously had been reported that the raiders "failed lamentably" to do extensive damage to military objectives.

JAPANESE SERGEANT SHOT BY GUNMAN IN SHANGHAI

SHANGHAI, Nov. 16 (AP).—A Japanese army sergeant was shot and wounded seriously by an unidentified gunman today in a continuance of attacks against Japanese soldiery occupying the section of the Shanghai International Settlement north of Soochow Creek.

The sergeant was wounded almost at the doorstep of a Japanese club filled with a noontime crowd which included prominent Japanese civilians and military and naval officers.

steam to go to the assistance of the Phrygia, received the Orinoco signal and went to its rescue and towed it in.

The Orinoco carried a crew of 200, the other vessels 40 men each.

The four ships, which had been moored here since outbreak of the European war, obtained clearance papers late yesterday, three of them giving the Canary Islands as their destination, and the fourth, Vigo, Spain.

Shipping circles speculated that they might be planning to keep a rendezvous with a German war vessel. Reports of German surface warships operating in Caribbean waters have been prevalent for some time.

First indications that the German ships might leave here were given last week when crew members were called aboard and large stores of provisions, including live hogs, were taken on.

Nazi Ship Which Left Colombia Oct. 28 Reported Sunk by British.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP). — Shipping circles received reports yesterday that the 2927-ton German freighter Helgoland, which fled from Barranquilla, Colombia, Oct. 28, had been sunk in the Caribbean by British warships.

The Hamburg-American Line freighter, built in 1939, was believed to have been carrying pilots of Scadta, German air line in South America, when it slipped out of port at night. It also was reported to have put to sea to refuel a raider attacking South Atlantic shipping routes.

2 U. S. TRANSPORTS GUARDED AFTER SABOTAGE TIP-OFF

Police and F. B. I. Watch the Laramie and Wharton in New York Shipyard.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP).—Acting on a tip that an attempt would be made to blow up two United States Government transport ships being reconditioned in a private shipyard, police and Federal agents closed off a Brooklyn waterfront area last night and set up special patrols on and around the two vessels.

A deputy police inspector in charge said 50 officers were sent to the Todd Shipyard Corporation drydocks to join Federal Bureau of Investigation agents guarding the Laramie, an army troop ship, and the Wharton, a navy vessel assigned as an army transport. He declined to reveal his source.

BRITAIN REGISTERS MORE MEN

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP).—Britain called the second half of the 35-year-age group to register today for military service.

The order applied to men born between Jan. 1 and June 30, 1905. Men born the last half of that year registered Nov. 9.

YUGOSLAVS FIRE AT PLANES WHEN THEY BOMB TOWN

Second Attack on Bitolj Met With Barrage—Raiders Were Italian, London Hears.

BITOLJ, Yugoslavia, Nov. 16 (AP). — Yugoslavia anti-aircraft guns went into action last night for the first time against foreign planes when three bombers of unidentified nationality raided Bitolj. Six bombs dropped near the railway station. No casualties were reported.

This was the second time this Yugoslav town near the Greek-Albanian border has been bombed since the start of Italy's invasion of Greece. On Nov. 5 two persons were killed, five were injured and heavy property damage caused when three planes raided the town in broad daylight.

Both the Italians and Greeks disclaimed responsibility for that attack. A Greek communique said Italians made it.

Last night's attackers came over from the Greek-Yugoslav border, dropped parachute flares over blacked-out Bitolj, then let go with their bombs.

Anti-aircraft guns lifted a tremendous barrage that lasted eight minutes. The planes, following a westerly course, apparently were not hit.

Italian Planes Attacked Town, Greek High Command Says.

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP). — A Reuters, British news agency, dispatch from Athens today said the Greek high command had identified the planes that attacked Bitolj, Yugoslavia, as Italian.

Reuters quoted a communique as follows:

"During last night, from 10:50 to 11:16 p. m., certain Italian aircraft activity was observed. Italian bombers entered Greek territory, flying over Florina and Melite, and penetrated into Yugoslav territory where they bombarded Bitolj and the neighborhood. Yugoslav anti-aircraft defenses replied."

ever. The Italians asserted one raiding plane probably was shot down and two others hit by bursting shells.

From the Greek-Albanian frontier battlefront the Italians reported heavy infantry action all along the Greek side of the border and said Italian planes shot down nine "enemy" aircraft in sky flights over Greece and destroyed two British Blenheim bombers on the ground at Larisa.

Fascist bombers were said to have attacked British forces at Alexandria, Mersa Matruh and other places in Egypt, and enemy artillery emplacements west of Gallabat in East Africa.

The Rome communique said British flyers bombed Sidi Barrani and other important Italian-held positions in Africa. An Italian first aid plane engaged in rescue work off Sidi Barrani was said to have been attacked by the British and destroyed. The crew was rescued.

Italian Warship Bombed in Raid on Tobruk, British Report.

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 16 (AP).—The British Middle East command announced last night that the Royal Air Force had bombed an Italian warship at Tobruk, Italian Libya, in new raids on Italian bases and points along the Addis Ababa-Jibuti Railway in Ethiopia.

Land fighting, the command said, had been limited to operations around Kassala, and Gallabat, the latter along the Sudanese-Ethiopian border. At Gallabat, it was said, the British were masters of the recaptured town.

Italian planes bombed the Alexandria naval base again last night in an attempt to hit British warships. Authorities said all the explosives fell on land, injuring seven civilians and causing slight property damage. The Governor of Alexandria, in a move to tighten port control, barred the public from the eastern harbor adjoining the fleet bases.

The networks will use songs ssembled by Broadcast Music, nc., which the chains formed to ombat A. S. C. A. P.

A. S. C. A. P. music will be ayed on sponsored programs un il Jan. 1, the deadline for the new ontract.

A. S. C. A. P., an organization f composers formed to insure col ection of fees for use of their usic, controls most of the song its of the last 50 years.

BROTHERS FILL DRAFT QUOTA

The Muellers Pass Physical Tests; Will Be Inducted Nov. 28.

The Mueller brothers, Oscar and Raymond, who volunteered for im mediate training under the draft and expressed the desire to go into the army together, will get their wish.

Thomas F. Coleman, chairman of County Draft Board 9, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter today that the Muellers, who reside on a farm near Mattese, would constitute the district's quota of two, to be in ducted at Jefferson Barracks Nov. 28. Whether they will be allowed to stay together after induction will depend on army authorities.

Montgomery School to Be Razed.

Razing of the 50-year-old Mont gomery School, 2810 Montgomery street, abandoned for school pur poses seven years ago, will begin next week, Philip J. Hickey, secre ary and treasurer of the Board of Education, said today. The site may be used temporarily as a play ground, he added. No plans have been made for its permanent dis position.

8230 TO BE CALLED UP HERE BY JUNE 30 FOR DRAFT SERVICE

Gross quotas were calculated for districts in proportion to their registration, as compared with registration for the entire State. The gross quota for Missouri was announced at Washington Nov. 2, along with that for all the other states, and at the same time the credits for residents already in the armed forces were announced. For Missouri these credits included 5850 men in the National Guard and 22,952 in other branches.

In arriving at net quotas, State draft authorities first deducted for residents of the various counties serving in the National Guard, but in the case of St. Louis and St. Louis County the aggregate of 916 in the Guard had to be apportioned among the 39 local draft districts, in proportion to draft registration. There was no county breakdown of residents in the other armed forces, so the system of proportionate allowances was employed for them in all of the State's 175 draft districts.

1439 Missourians Volunteer.

State Selective Service Director Claude C. Earp reported to Washington yesterday that 1439 Missouri men had volunteered to start training immediately. Volunteers, it is expected, will fill most of the November quota. In most of the State's 175 draft districts there appear to be more than enough volunteers to meet the district quotas, but where the number is insufficient or there is no volunteer, the conscription process will be applied.

Among the volunteers are 320 in St. Louis, 58 in St. Louis County and 154 in Jackson County. Sixteen counties, each with a November quota of one man, have reported no volunteers; they are Barton, Bates, Caldwell, Chariton, Christian, Clark, Daviess, Gasconade, Gentry, Iron, Lewis, Linn, Madison, Mercer, Scotland and Taney.

Those indicted here for alleged failure to register for the draft were listed as John W. Hamm, 32 years old, laborer, 1004 Hickory street, and Emmett Dawkins, Negro, 26, 2825 Lucas avenue. Arrested by city police for minor reasons, they were held for Federal authorities because they could not show registration certificates. Maximum penalty for violation of the Selective Service Act is five years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

Police Question Men of Draft Age.

Police habitually ask men of draft age for registration certificates when making arrests, questioning suspects or checking tavern activities. Due to annoyance of some members of the 138th Infantry of the National Guard, who were not required to register, officers have been issuing membership certificates.

About 100 members of the regiment, returning early in September from maneuvers, quit their jobs because they expected to be inducted into Federal service almost immediately. The call has been delayed but they have been unable to get work because eventually they will have to leave. About 10 of the regiment's officers have sublet their homes here and must pay November rent on quarters at Little Rock, Ark., which they had taken in the expectation of early transfer to Camp Robinson.

The American Legion Commanders' Conference last night delegated to its Americanism Council, headed by Neal J. Capaldo, the duty of arranging a public ceremony in honor of the November contingent of men called in the draft from St. Louis and St. Louis County. Capaldo said it was proposed to meet in Municipal Auditorium's Opera House the night of Nov. 26, with speeches by Mayor Dickmann and prominent Legion members and with members of the local draft boards present. There will be a color guard, the band of the American Legion or the Washington University R. O. T. C., and a Legion drum and bugle corps, he added.

3700 Volunteer in New York City.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP).—Col. Arthur V. McDermott, local selective service director, announced today that 3700 men, or nearly twice the city's first-call quota of 1917 draftees, had volunteered for training.

Steel Shelter in Back Yard but Family Apparently Was in House When Nazi Explosive Fell, Son and Brother Here Says.

Mrs. Florene Bucksey, formerly of St. Louis, and her daughter, Mrs. Irene May Carton, were killed, and her husband, William J. Bucksey, was seriously injured when a Nazi bomb destroyed their home in suburban London with a direct hit during a night air raid Oct. 15.

Her son, Thomas H. Bucksey, of 4340 Potomac street, said he received word of the tragedy Tuesday in a letter from the chaplain of St. John's Hospital, Balham, which was written at the direction of the London County Council.

Confirmation was received yesterday in a cable from officials of the American Red Cross in London. Thomas Bucksey, a foreman for the Landis Machine Co., is a volunteer Red Cross worker engaged in first aid instruction, and had requested representatives of the organization in England for information as to his family.

Home on Line of Nazi Flights.

He said his parents' home, a one-story brick cottage, was in Streatham Vale, a suburb south of London, and in the direct line of flight taken by German bombers on their nightly raids on the city. He said there was a fabricated steel air raid shelter in the back yard of their home, but apparently his parents and sister were in the house when it was destroyed by the bomb.

Bucksey said he was informed his mother, who was 80 years old, and his sister, 43, were killed outright. His father, 70, is in serious condition with compound fractures of the left arm and leg and internal injuries.

Mrs. Bucksey suffered from arthritis and found it uncomfortable to stay in the air raid shelter during the alarms. Her husband was also in poor health and the family decided to remain in their home during air raid alarms. This was told in a letter written by Mrs. Carton five days before the tragedy.

"These are very trying times and we all are very tired," she wrote. "Believe me, it is a luxury to sleep in a bed.

"We Must Trust to Luck."

"We have slept once in bed this week, but mother and dad are so frail just now that tonight we will not go into the dugout but sit in the dining-room and chance it. The barrage is so intense and the bombs make such a terrific noise that it is none too healthy being in the house, but we must trust to luck."

Later on she described the "nightmare" experience of walking home from work in the evening during an air raid, with bombs and shrapnel from defense guns falling all around.

"I wait until the all clear (signal), then scoot home to see if the old people are all right," she said. "We have had it very close to our door, but our house, thank God, still stands; only slates off the roof."

Detective in Scotland Yard.

William Bucksey, who had been a detective with Scotland Yard for 30 years, and Mrs. Bucksey came to St. Louis in 1927 to be near their son. They lived in a modest frame home at 4340 Fairview avenue, a block from their son, and the father obtained a job as inspector at the machine firm under his son. They left St. Louis in the autumn of 1933 to rejoin their daughter in England.

Mrs. Carton was the widow of a British soldier, killed in England during the first weeks of the war. Her brother said he had not learned the full details of his death.

He said he has received no word from England concerning his niece, Miss Florence Carton, 22. He said he understands she was not living with her mother and the Buckseys.

Peoria Hunter's Body Recovered.

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 16 (AP).—The body of Herbert Leroy, one of three Peorians who were hunting ducks along the Illinois River near here when they were caught in last Monday's heavy windstorm, was recovered yesterday from the river near Rome. Leroy's son, Billy, and brother, Chester, still were missing.

LEWIS, HILLMAN CONFER; CIO PEACE REPORTED SOUGHT

Estranged Union Leaders Said to Be Trying to Avert Factional Fight at Convention.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 16 (AP).—The threat of a split in the national CIO convention next week over partisan politics, labor unity and internal policies began to fade today after CIO leaders John L. Lewis and Sidney Hillman met in a surprise conference apparently to discuss their estrangement.

The hour-and-a-half hotel-room meeting that followed a Boardwalk greeting was the first in many months and sent reports spreading through convention groups that the two leaders who took opposite sides in the Roosevelt-Willkie presidential contest had reached the point of burying the hatchet to avert a factional breach on the convention floor.

CIO unionists, who had been expecting a showdown between the Lewis and Hillman partisans, interpreted the conference as a sign that there would be no split in the CIO.

How Two Disagreed.

Hillman, National Defense Commissioner for Labor Relations, was one of the CIO's leading third-term supporters of President Roosevelt, and long has been an advocate of new endeavors to heal the breach with the AFL and curb the reported influence of Communist party members in high CIO positions.

Lewis, on the other hand, came out in the closing stages of the presidential campaign with a plea to labor to back Republican Wendell L. Willkie, coupling it with an attack on Roosevelt's administration.

He also has been cool toward peace conferences with the AFL. The meeting of Lewis and Hillman, two of the most influential labor advocates of the CIO's five-year-old program of industrial unionism in the mass-production industries, was interpreted in well-informed convention quarters as the first step toward a reconciliation and an understanding on a program.

In his radio appeal shortly before the election to mobilize labor behind the Willkie candidacy, Lewis said he would retire as CIO president if Roosevelt were returned to the White House.

Murray Probable Successor.

The CIO convention, opening Monday, expects to see Lewis step down from the CIO leadership, turning the post over to Philip Murray, Pittsburgh labor leader, who also is acceptable to the anti-Lewis group lined up with Hillman.

There were CIO delegates who said they were keeping their fingers crossed on the outcome of the Lewis-Hillman meeting, but sentiment apparently was growing that the CIO convention would act on the demands of the Hillman group without splitting the CIO.

A few hours before the conference, Hillman's Amalgamated Clothing Workers' Union drafted a resolution calling for a change in the constitution to bar from paid jobs in the CIO's national office anyone who belongs to a Communist, Nazi or Fascist organization "or any other subservise group or organization."

Hillman partisans also offered resolutions calling for new efforts to find a formula for labor peace with the AFL.

AFL leaders frequently charged that the CIO permitted the so-called left-wing groups to obtain a foothold in CIO organizations.

Hillman and his followers are known to have taken a strong stand against Communists taking an active part in the CIO. Lewis, himself, has publicly declared he has no sympathy with Communists.

TURKEY BUT NO CRANBERRIES

Inmates of city institutions will be given turkey as usual on Thanksgiving, Nov. 21, but there will be no cranberries. Supply Commissioner Victor P. Roach announced that the current market price of cranberries, $16.80 per 100 pounds, is too high.

The city has contracted for 2727 pounds of turkey at 22.4 cents a pound, or .4 of a cent a pound more than last year. Pumpkin and mince pie also will be served, and a wide assortment of vegetables.

Sale of Old Fire Engine House.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment approved an offer of $7500 yesterday for an abandoned fire engine house at 818 North Seventh street. The offer was made by Everett Schneider, secretary of the Schneider Printing Co., 911 North Sixth street. An ordinance authorizing the sale will be submitted to the Board of Aldermen. The building was damaged by fire after its abandonment two years ago, and it is estimated repairs would cost $2000.

A F L EXPECTING ROOSEVELT PLEA FOR LABOR PEACE

Union Leaders, Assembling for Convention, Think President Will Urge Conciliation With CIO.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16 (AP).—President Roosevelt is expected to send a message to the American Federation of Labor convention here early next week urging peace between the AFL and the rival Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Leaders assembled here in advance of the general meeting, starting Monday, expected the message from the White House to lend new impetus to the drive for conciliation between the two labor groups.

When AFL President William Green makes his annual address Monday, he is expected to throw open the door to any CIO unions which may revolt against the CIO leadership of John L. Lewis. Green conferred with Roosevelt a few days ago.

Although leaders would not be quoted directly, many confidently expected several important CIO groups to break away and seek affiliation with the AFL.

AFL officers said, however, that even if Lewis kept his promise to resign, he probably would continue to dominate the CIO in his capacity as head of the United Mine Workers, largest union in the CIO. Lewis' $25,000-a-year salary is paid by the Mine Workers, not the CIO.

The labor men generally expressed satisfaction over the resignation of Nathan Witt as secretary of the National Labor Relations Board, and approved the President's appointment of Dr. H. A. Millis to the board. They looked on this action as presaging a sweeping change in the board's policies.

Matthew Woll, president of the Union Label Trades Department, commenting on Witt's resignation, said that "at least that's getting to the trouble at its source."

Woll was re-elected by the Union Label Trades Department, which met in advance of the general convention. The department voted to leave vacant the office of fifth vice-president recently resigned by Claude Baker, president of the International Typographical Union, because "it will maintain good will and may help secure an early re-affiliation of the ITU with the AFL."

COMMITTEE TO DRAW UP BILL FOR EXPRESS HIGHWAY DIVIDER

Cost of Strip in Center of Road Put at $25,000; Five Types Being Studied.

The Traffic Committee of the Board of Aldermen decided yesterday to draft a bill providing for a traffic divider in the center of the Express Highway to keep automobiles in their proper lanes and to prevent head-on collisions.

Alderman William Warnick of the Twenty-eighth Ward, chairman of the committee, said the divider would be two to four feet wide and cost about $25,000. Five types are being studied by the Department of Streets and Sewers.

The committee made a survey of traffic congestion on Pine, Olive and Locust streets from Third street to Twelfth boulevard, and found that it took twice as long to drive through the downtown area on those three streets than on Washington avenue, where parking is prohibited, Warnick said.

Drawing up a bill to prohibit parking on the three streets is being considered by the committee, which will meet Wednesday to consider the parking regulations and the proposed divider.

U. S. GRAND JURY RETURNS 86 INDICTMENTS IN ST. LOUIS

Draft Dodging, Counterfeiting, Forgery of Government Checks Among Charges.

The Federal grand jury, in a partial report to United States District Judge Charles B. Davis yesterday, returned 86 indictments, six of which were suppressed.

Among offenses charged in the others, in addition to two cases of alleged draft dodging, were counterfeiting, forgery of Government checks and violation of the Mann Act and the liquor and narcotic laws.

HEARINGS ON ZONING PLAN

Bill Proposed to Revise City Ordinance.

A series of public hearings on the proposed bill to revise the city zoning ordinance, pending before the Zoning and Planning Committee since last May, will be started in about two weeks, Charles O'Connor, committee chairman, said yesterday.

O'Connor estimated the meetings would continue until mid-January, and said he hoped to complete all work on the bill before expiration of the aldermanic session in April.

Stores Unveil Christmas Windows; Big Crowds Gather for First Look

More Movement Than Ever in Holiday Displays—Elaborate Farm Scene, Wedding of the Dolls.

The first evidence of Christmas cheer made its appearance in St. Louis today when the three large downtown department stores unveiled their mechanical window displays.

There is more movement than ever in the displays, but they are less tricky and less bizarre than in former years. The emphasis this season is on a wholesome cheerfulness. By mid-morning large crowds had gathered in front of the windows and children had to be lifted on shoulders to see anything.

The most realistic and the most humorous windows are at Scruggs-Vandervoort-Barney, where the designer, Hugh Hockaday, has installed a Christmas-on-the-farm scene which will warm the hearts of the most cynical.

Mother is trimming the edges off a pie in the kitchen, while daughter rolls out some more dough. The young son is actually washing his ears, meanwhile peering out toward the barn where father is conferring with Santa Claus. The hired man is milking a very realistic cow which swishes its tail in his face, a pig swirls its cork-screw tail, and old dobbin is whinnying in the barn door.

The same huge family which cavorted in Famous-Barr's windows last year is there again, up to its cheerful tricks. They ride in a Model T Ford that rattles, they eat turkey at dinner, they trim the Christmas tree, and, in the large window, they put on a fancy and graceful skating exhibition.

Stix, Baer & Fuller has rigged up "The Wedding of the Wooden Soldier and Painted Doll," a very elaborate affair at which all of the nursery rhyme characters make their appearance. Mother Goose arrives on a non-stop flight, Yankee Doodle rides in on his pony, Old King Cole's three fiddlers play, and Jack the Giant Killer throws out all undesirable guests. It's the "biggest celebration since 1776."

MILK MARKETING PROGRAM IN ST. LOUIS AREA CHANGED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP).—An amended Federal program regulating the handling of milk in the St. Louis marketing area will go into effect Dec. 1 under an order issued today by the Department of Agriculture.

The amended program changes the basis of determining the minimum producer price of milk. The present program fixed a flat price of $2.24 per hundredweight for Class 1 milk.

Under the amended program, if the average price of 92-score butter at Chicago falls within the 28-31 cent average price range, the class one minimum price would be $2.44 during December through February, $2.34 for March through June, and $2.54 for July through November. With each rise or fall of 3 cents in the butter price range, the corresponding class one price for each season would increase or decrease 10 cents per hundredweight. Recent prices of 92-score butter at Chicago have been within the 28-31 cent range. The program also will increase the price for class two, or surplus, milk 10 cents per hundredweight for July through November.

The amended program was approved by producers supplying the St. Louis market, in a recent referendum.

RECEIVER FOR FIRM IN WHICH EMPLOYES INVESTED $150,000

J. Edward Yoch, Belleville Manufacturer, to Wind Up Business of Enterprise Foundry.

J. Edward Yoch, Belleville manufacturer, was named receiver for the Enterprise Foundry Co. of Belleville yesterday by United States District Judge Fred L. Wham after three creditors had filed a petition in bankruptcy against the company.

The firm, which manufactures stoves, suspended operations Nov. 4 when Arthur O. Spoeneman, president, informed employes that unless new capital was raised it would have to quit business. Last year the employes raised more than $150,000 to keep the company in business in Belleville.

Creditors who filed the petitions were the Liese Lumber Co., South Side Polishing Works, and the Belleville Sheet Metal Shop. The petition alleged the company's assets were $300,000 and its liabilities $400,000. Paul Wagner, Belleville attorney, who filed the petition, was named attorney for the receiver by Judge Wham.

FREEZING WEATHER THREATENS TRUCK CROPS, FRUIT IN SOUTH

Florida Has Temperatures Below 32; Florence, Ala., Reports Reading of 12.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 16 (AP).—Freezing weather blanketed the South today, threatening damage to truck crops and fruit trees.

Freezing temperatures reached into Florida and into the sugar and trucking regions of Louisiana.

Minimum temperatures of 19 at Atlanta and 22 at Montgomery, Ala., were records for so early in the season. A reading of 12 was reported from Florence, Ala.

WOMAN AND GRANDSON SUFFOCATE IN FIRE

Mrs. Emma Ardrey, a Negro, and her 3-year-old grandson, Solomon Dyer, died of suffocation last night in a fire at their home, 1344 Leffingwell avenue. The fire was started by hot ashes placed in a paper container.

Mrs. Ardrey, 65 years old, and the boy died in bed in a second-floor room. An inhalator was used before they were pronounced dead at Homer G. Phillips Hospital.

James Robinson, a roomer, was trapped on the second floor by flames and jumped from a window. He was not hurt.

Firemen, called at 10:45 o'clock, put out the fire and removed the bodies of Mrs. Ardrey and the boy. They learned that George Qualls, 11, half brother of Solomon Dyer, had removed hot ashes from a stove on the first floor and placed them in a paper box. He left the house and the fire was discovered a short time later. Damage was estimated at $650.

Woman Rescued When Trapped on Third Floor by Fire.

Firemen rescued a woman from a third-floor room of a tenement at 1902 Franklin avenue after she was trapped by flames at 4 o'clock this morning.

Eleanor Cole, Negro, was carried down a ladder when fire prevented her from reaching the stairs. Mrs. Lillian Hale, 70 years old, white, was burned slightly as she ran through flames on the third floor. The fire, of undetermined origin, started in her room.

Two families living on the second floor got out unaided. Two alarms were turned in, but the blaze was put out quickly. Damage to the dwelling floors was fixed at $350 and there was unestimated water damage in the shop of the Arman Cleaners, on the first floor.

NURSE UNIT LEADS EMPLOYE GROUPS IN CHARITIES DRIVE

Association, Which Cares for Needy Sick in Their Homes, Reports Gifts Totaling $1015.

The Visiting Nurse Association, which is one of the 85 welfare agencies included in the United Charities campaign, leads all employe groups, with the highest average subscription per employe in the campaign, it was announced today.

A report from the association shows donations totaling $1015 from 51 employes, an average of about $20 each. The association provides nursing care for the needy sick in their homes. Last year 20 per cent of the babies born in the city were attended by nurses from the association.

The total subscribed to date in the campaign is $670,566, the amount announced at the second report meeting at the Statler Hotel yesterday. This is 29 per cent of the goal of $2,254,493. The next report meeting will be Monday noon at the Statler.

Other donations from employe groups received at campaign headquarters were: From the staff of United Charities, Inc., 107 employes, $1338; Katz Drug Co., Easton Avenue Branch, 40 employes, $137; Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Office, 49 employes, $218.

Nine teams of volunteer workers in the county have reached or exceeded their quotas, it was announced by Fred M. Switzer Jr., chairman of the county division.

The Webster Groves team, captained by Mrs. W. B. Lytton, leads all others, having obtained 185 per cent of its quota. Other team captains and the quotas percentages obtained are: Mrs. Melvin F. Held, Pasadena Hills, 153 per cent; William S. Matthews Jr., Oakland, 140 per cent; Phil Rupp, Affton, 125 per cent; Mrs. Shermn M. Goble, Glendale, 124 per cent; Mrs. Charles M. Baker, Webster Groves, 120 per cent; Mrs. John E. Riley Jr., Glendale, 109 per cent; John Corley, Meramec Township, 103 per cent; and Mrs. Callie Alvey, Lemay, 100 per cent.

SHIFT IN ALIEN REGISTRATION DURING CHRISTMAS MAIL RUSH

Branch Postoffice to Discontinue Such Work Which Will Be Handled by Main Office.

Alien registration will be discontinued at branch postoffices when the space now occupied by registration units is needed for the Christmas mail rush, Postmaster W. Rufus Jackson announced today. The registration will be confined to the Main Postoffice after the branch units are closed.

The registration and fingerprinting unit at Plaza Station, new Federal Building, will be discontinued this afternoon. The closing hour at the old Federal Building will be changed from 7 p. m. to 5 p. m. effective Monday. Registrations will be accepted at the Main Postoffice, Eighteenth and Market streets, on week days until 9 p. m., except Saturday when the closing hour is 2 p. m.

The deadline for aliens to register is Dec. 26.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Not a Bought Election.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

SINCE, in theory, both political camps are now for national unity, is it not the duty of those who sincerely want it to refute squarely and mercilessly the untruthful statement that a majority of "free" voters voted against Roosevelt?

The answer is simple. Subtract the WPA vote from Roosevelt's total, and Roosevelt still would have won. Take away the so-called machine-ridden states. He would still have won.

Did the farm states which received Federal benefit checks constitute any considerable regimented element in Roosevelt's "machine"? On the contrary, here was Willkie's greatest strength.

Subsidy pressure is not new. Tariff benefits and the time-honored Republican threat of closing down factories if Democrats were elected constitute one of America's oldest rackets.

Even if the "subsidized" vote of WPA workers and farmers had been decisive, that vote would in no sense have been bribed or dishonest.

The majority of persons on relief are men and women who have been unable to find jobs elsewhere. They had cause for deep gratitude to the Roosevelt administration, because it had saved them from hunger and degradation.

By what canon of justice should they have been deprived of the right to show this gratitude on election day?

J. K. ROBBINS.

In the Name of Patriotism.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

SOME time ago, a company gave away American flags to be stuck on windshields. Then a rumor spread that they were Nazi signs.

Drivers were threatened and made to remove the emblem. One man driving through a small town was told to take the flag off at once or his windows might be broken.

Now I hear that a large expensive window in a fine old church here was broken, and a note left condemning the church for having one service in German each Sunday.

Such mock patriots should be captured and made to work out the damages at hard labor. TOLERANT.

Need for a Clear Foreign Policy.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I WOULD like to echo the query of the New York Daily News editor, whose views were recently reprinted in your Mirror of Public Opinion, who asked, "What is our Far Eastern policy?"

Americans are now being counseled to forget their political differences in the interest of national unity. We can never become fully united until the administration provides our ship of state with the rudder of a clearly defined foreign policy.

Those of us who have consistently questioned the merits of what the Daily News editor called our "improvised" foreign policy can find little comfort in the mere statement of Mr. Roosevelt that he is "laboring for peace," Asiatic or European.

The White Committee, in particular, would do well to heed the editor's advice to all of us. This is that we should realize we can't be Sir Galahad to all of the world, but that we can, and should, police that portion of the world with which we are most directly concerned, the northern part of the Western Hemisphere. DONALD DATES.

Would Accept Ickes' Resignation.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I AM 100 per cent for unity, but it should not be asked entirely from those who oppose the New Deal.

There is only one man in this country who can bring about unity and he is Franklin D. Roosevelt.

He now has a marvelous opportunity to make a gigantic start toward unity. Harold L. Ickes has tendered his resignation. Mr. Roosevelt should accept this resignation at once.

Mr. Ickes has gone around the country for the past eight years condemning all who do not agree with the New Dealers. I firmly believe he is the one man most dangerous to unity in this country. CARY H. BACON.

University City.

Too Many George Davises.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

IN reply to George Davis, whose letter was published Nov. 4, I fully appreciate and am in agreement with his reasons for supporting the Democratic party. However, there is another angle to his letter which deserves consideration.

How about the other George Davises who might happen to work for stanch Republican employers who do not appreciate the humanitarian principles of their Democratically minded underlings? Yes, what will these employers think of us when they see that letter? What chance have we to disclaim it, knowing that they look askance at our political views anyhow? They might even regard it as a personal insult and hold back that longed-for promotion or raise.

So, as another Democrat in sympathy with George Davis (having lost only a few weeks' work myself since 1926), would it be too much to ask him to take the full rap for his public utterances by putting in his initials, etc., instead of remaining in sweet anonymity behind the curtain of this very popular name?

GEORGE DAVIS.

HADLEY AND DONNELL.

When Governor-elect Donnell, as the returns virtually designate him, is inaugurated in January, he will find himself in much the same position, politically, as Herbert Hadley did when he moved over to the executive mansion from the attorney-generalship in 1909. All the other elective officials, excepting the Lieutenant-Governor, were Democrats. Hadley had a Republican House in his first legislative session, but that advantage was nullified by a Democratic Senate, made such by a ballot-proof gerrymander that flouted and voided public sentiment as registered at the polls.

There was partisan bickering, of course, with occasional lusty swinging, but the Hadley administration would probably have had a distinctive body of accomplishment to its credit, had it not been for the national schism. Theodore Roosevelt's assault on the Taft administration, following the passage of the Payne-Aldrich Tariff Act, diverted popular and official attention from state capitols everywhere to Washington.

As one of the seven Governors who memorialized Col. Roosevelt to become a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, Hadley assumed a leadership in the revolt which culminated in his dramatic personal triumph as Roosevelt's floor manager in the turbulent Chicago convention that finally steam-rollered Taft into the nomination.

That Taft-Roosevelt battle practically adjourned state government, and though it enhanced Hadley's personal stature, it all but reduced his gubernatorial career to a two-year term.

Even so, Hadley impressed himself on his home constituency, as well as on the country, as Governor of Missouri. In that fact, the Governor-elect may find encouragement, and in the Hadley administrative practice and policy a subject for profitable study. Missouri has produced no more consummate politician in the twentieth century than Herbert Hadley. As Attorney-General, he had made himself Missouri's man of the hour by his prosecution of Standard Oil, while Joseph W. Folk's waning star disappeared in the eclipse of his unsuccessful bid for Stone's senatorial seat. Hadley was the only Republican who could have been elected Governor of Missouri in 1908, and beyond his governorship, if successful, the White House loomed, not as a mirage, but as a justified and logical ambition.

What did he do, what could he do, in the adverse political setup? Diligent student of history, he apparently was influenced by the philosophy of England's great Prime Minister, Robert Peel, who contrived to follow, rather than lead, public opinion. It was not in the cards for Gov. Hadley to give Missouri a Public Utilities Commission, as he phrased it, or an adequate workmen's compensation law, or highway legislation, or effective judicial procedure. But he eloquently advocated those and other progressive measures, which public opinion was demanding. And by explaining how the as-yet-untried initiative could be invoked, he paved the way for the adoption of those reforms by the succeeding administration.

It was Missouri's scholarly DeArmond who bestowed on Hadley the Latin encomium—suaviter in modo, fortiter in re. Suave in manner, sturdy in action Hadley assuredly was. He maintained cordial relations with the Democratic opposition, cultivated the good will of the press, was actively interested in Jefferson City's municipal affairs and became—so they said—the most popular citizen in that traditionally Democratic town.

The business of getting on with people, as conducted by Herbert Hadley, was really a fine art. Forrest C. Donnell will have need for that accomplishment in the testing days to come.

MR. DIES IS VERY BUSY.

The Dies Committee is planning to issue a "white paper," telling what it has found out about the doings of German and Italian consular officers in this country, instead of airing the subject by means of hearings. This may serve a useful purpose, but it would seem a good idea for Mr. Dies to consult the Department of Justice, not to mention the State Department, before he rushes his expose into print.

The fact is, there has been very little co-ordination between the Dies Committee probings and the FBI, whose duties include the running down of subversive agencies. Dies investigators recently raided Nazi offices in New York, thereby cutting off valuable information the FBI had been receiving from inside operatives. Needless to say, Department of Justice officials were enraged by the blundering which undid their careful plans.

The Dies Committee is nearing the end of its $110,000 appropriation, and will need $5,000,000 next year, its chairman says, if the work is to be carried forward "as it should be." Obviously, the present burst of activity is a means for promoting a bigger budget for 1941. Five millions wouldn't be too much for a genuine cleanup of fifth-column activities, but the committee isn't entitled to another dime if it continues to get in the way of the FBI.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS AS A SMOKE SCREEN.

The overtime provisions of the Wage and Hour Act are a threat to freedom of the press, says Dean Carl W. Ackerman of the Graduate School of Journalism at Columbia University. If the newspapers concede the Government's right to set minimum wages for any group of their employes, he explains, then regulations can be created "even to the extent of making it utterly impossible for a newspaper to have any employes at all."

We beg to differ. The Wage and Hour Act, overtime provisions and all, applies to the newspaper business just as validly as to any other business. It places no more restrictions upon freedom of the press than it does upon the constitutionally guaranteed liberties of, say, a factory owner. As President Roosevelt pointed out seven years ago when a short-sighted segment of the press objected to NRA regulations, freedom of the press does not entitle newspapers to plead immunity from fire-safety laws and building codes. The same logic assuredly applies to statutes for protection of wage earners.

Let us examine Dean Ackerman's case. Assume, for the sake of argument, that a tyrannical wage law administrator does some day try to strangle the press by imposing unreasonable restrictions. How long would the courts of the nation tolerate such an attempt? Freedom of the press is a fundamental of democracy and the courts will certainly squelch any effort to interfere with it.

If a newspaper has any complaint to make against the Wage and Hour Act, and it has created serious difficulties for some newspapers, the proper basis should be facts and figures, not the twisting of a constitutional guarantee into a plea for special privilege. Using freedom of the press as a smoke screen for attacks upon labor laws is certain to undermine public confidence, the very source of the press' strength.

Dean Ackerman, it is important to note, is cooperating with the American Newspaper Publishers' Association in preparing affidavits to fight the wage law. We have previously expressed our disagreement with the ANPA in its opposition to the Wagner Act regulation of advertising under the Food and Drug Act, and to other reforms. Raising the cry of press freedom as a subterfuge for holding up progress is to abuse a guarantee precious not only to journalism but to the American people.

FOOD STAMPS FOR ST. LOUIS.

St. Louis is at last to have the benefit of one of the most intelligent devices born of the nation's post-depression relief and farm problems—Surplus Commodity food stamps.

Here is a device, admittedly a stop-gap, that makes a serious approach to the paradox of want in the midst of plenty. The SCC, of course, buys up produce that threatens to become a glut on the market in an effort to shore up prices for the sake of the farmer's cash income.

Through the stamp plan, first put into operation experimentally in Rochester, N. Y., a year or so ago, these commodities are now distributed to the needy by the Surplus Marketing Administration through established dealers at reduced prices. Persons on relief may purchase stamps at less than face value and use them when they go to the stores. There they are accepted like cash, the dealer getting face value when he takes them to the bank. Thus the Government actually reduces the cost of its farm subsidy.

The plan, which, incidentally, was pushed hard by Henry Wallace as Secretary of Agriculture, quickly spread across the country. It would have been introduced here earlier but for the failure of relief authorities to guarantee a minimum allocation of $1 per person per week for food, and their inability to furnish personnel for its administration.

Both of these Federal conditions have now been met. Space for administrative headquarters and stamp distribution centers is being provided by the city. The State is providing an administrator and seeking a WPA grant for clerical help. The banks have agreed to handle the stamps without a service charge. Thus, the co-operation of private, municipal, state and Federal agencies makes possible a setup that will afford a wholesome, low-cost diet to 30,000 or more St. Louis families, not to mention the increased receipts it will bring to the store tills of the city.

The plan, it is expected, will be in full operation by the middle of December—just when the winter's cold will make it most valuable.

DEMOCRACY IN THE ST. LOUIS SCHOOLS.

An admirable statement on the teaching of democracy in the public schools was made by Superintendent Homer Anderson in opening the new broadcast series, "Your Child and the Schools," on Station KSD this morning. This is no task for a special course or class, Dr. Anderson says; citizenship for democracy "must be taught every day, through all classes." The facts and the principles may be presented to pupils in history, civics and economics courses, but "these things alone will not make good citizens." To quote Dr. Anderson further:

> Unless we can teach children to think clearly so they will understand the meaning of citizenship, unless we can develop in them right attitudes, unless we can make them well-balanced, mature, sane men and women who are willing to put aside personal gains, if need be, for the general welfare, we shall have failed to teach citizenship. At least, we shall have failed to teach the kind of citizenship that is needed in a democracy. The schools have not failed, and they are not going to fail.

A committee of teachers now is working on the question of how these principles can best be put to work in the St. Louis schools. Members of this committee will be on the new radio series next Saturday morning, to discuss the program and inform the public about what is being done. Though too long neglected, this is the most vital subject in any American school's curriculum. Dr. Anderson's statement is reassurance that it will be brought into the spotlight in the St. Louis system.

Another chapter in the sordid story of Union Electric's clandestine fund-juggling is being written in Washington these days by the accountants and the lawyers of the Federal Power Commission. A dispatch from one of this paper's correspondents in the capital indicates that the commission has uncovered serious accounting irregularities in its investigation of the Bagnell Dam project.

The evidence, which was unearthed by FPC accountants and is now being checked by lawyers preliminary to a public announcement, is believed to show that expense accounts were padded in order to provide funds for outside purposes.

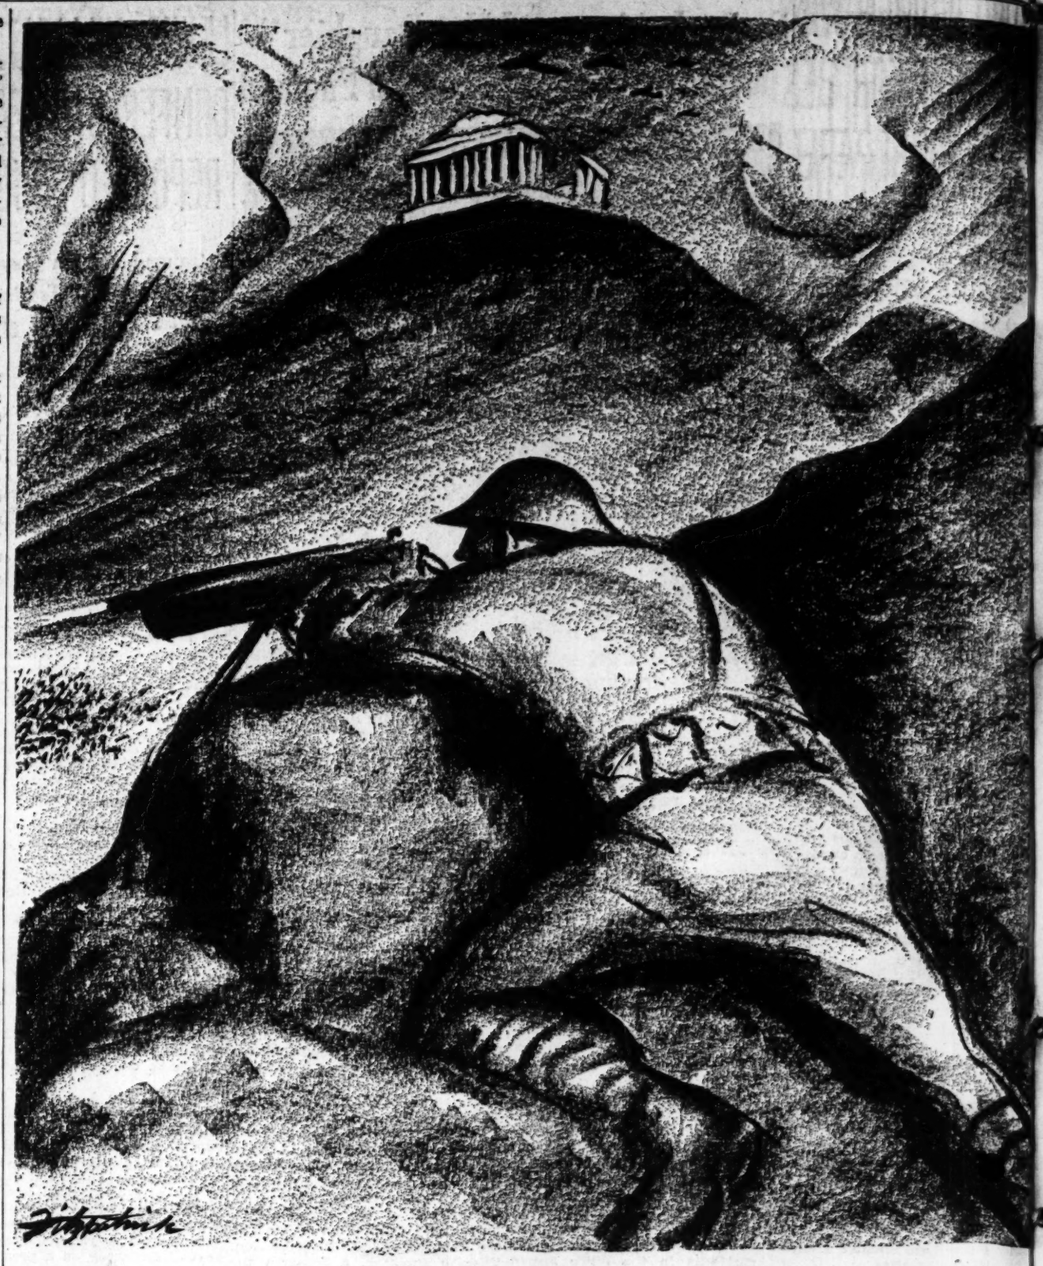

As a result of the recent SEC investigation of Union Electric and the resultant convictions, this pattern has become a familiar one to the citizens of St. Louis. They will recall, for example, that the SEC disclosed that Logan H. Keller, a Kansas City sales representative, made secret cash rebates of about $72,000 to a Union Electric executive for a slush fund in connection with orders for insulators and poles for Bagnell.

They will recall how a lawyer handed big bills to a company representative who had gone to Springfield, Ill., to get them. And they will recall how this kind of money found its way into political campaign chests. They will recall the list under the rug. So there will be no surprise if it turns out that there is even more in the haystack than the SEC was able to find.

The Power Commission's findings may well be illuminating because it is charged with making a very thorough survey of the cost of such hydroelectric projects as that on the Lake of the Ozarks. The Government has the right of recapture in these cases. This means that it can take projects over at the end of 50 years on payment either of the building cost or the current appraised value, whichever is lower. The commission must therefore be especially vigilant against padded costs.

Having been given an insight into the regard of some former Union Electric executives for "other people's money" and for a free people's government, St. Louis awaits the details of the Power Commission report with apprehension.

Reactions of Our Southern Neighbors

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Unlike Europe, where each nation took a selfish view of the re-election of President Roosevelt, Latin American countries hailed it as victory for democracy and celebrated it as such, editorial declares; sees in this the fruitfulness of the Good Neighbor policy.

From the New York Daily News.

THE two best pieces of post-election news we know of both concern South and Central America and our relations therewith.

One of these items is the news that understandings have been arrived at with practically all the Latin American nations for United States use of air and naval bases whenever such use appears necessary for Western Hemisphere defense.

The other is the news that the President has allotted $3,000,000 for cultural, good will and legitimate propaganda work in Latin America on behalf of the United States. The work will be directed by Nelson A. Rockefeller, one of Mr. Roosevelt's six administrative assistants. Utilizing press, radio and movie facilities, the organization to handle the job includes such experts in these fields as Karl A. Bickel, John Hay Whitney, Don Francisco and James W. Young.

We're gratified over these news items mainly because of the various European reactions to Mr. Roosevelt's re-election as contrasted with the various Latin American reactions.

Berlin and Rome saw the Roosevelt victory as a mandate from the people to their Government to keep out of the war. London saw it as a go-ahead signal from the people for more and faster help to Great Britain in the war. Both sides, in short, are figuring on what they can get out of the President's re-election for themselves.

That's fair enough, and Americans would be wise to do more of that kind of selfish thinking on their own account, but it doesn't exactly warm the cockles of your heart. The Latin American reactions to our election do.

Nicaragua put on a two-day celebration. The Argentine papers are especially enthusiastic—and Argentina has been called not too friendly to us in the past. Uruguay's biggest newspaper streamer-headlines our Nov. 5 event as a "Magnificent Victory of Democracy."

Ecuador is gratified; so is Colombia; so is Chile. President Vargas of Brazil is reliably reported planning to visit President Roosevelt in the near future.

All of which indicates that the Good Neighbor policy has been a success in general.

We've got a lot of friends down there, who want to go on being our friends. We can build up bigger and better trade and cultural relations with all Latin America, and the benefits will flow both ways.

It's gratifying to see that the administration, in its zeal to help Great Britain, hasn't forgotten this immensely important job of building up our own popularity and usefulness on our own side of the world.

Jeannette Rankin Returns to Congress

From the Omaha World-Herald.

TWENTY-THREE years ago last April 6, in the early hours of the morning, the roll was being called in the national House of Representatives on the joint resolution proclaiming a state of war between the United States and Germany.

The house clerk came to the name of Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, the first, and up to that time the only, American Congresswoman. Miss Rankin sat sobbing at her desk. Three times her name was called before she was able to reply. Then finally she said in a choked voice:

"I want to stand by my country—but I cannot vote for war."

It was a feminine voice, crying out in strongly masculine days.

The patriots of the day derided her weakness, and at the next election she was retired to private life, where she remained for years in comparative obscurity.

But if you read the election returns closely last week, you may have noted that Jeannette Rankin again was elected to represent her old district. She is a Republican, but she was elected in a traditionally Democratic district, in a State which went 60 per cent for Roosevelt.

That may have been the most significant election of the year. For of all the candidates who said they were against war, Jeannette Rankin was one whom the voters could trust without reservation. They knew that she had been tested by fire and that her opposition to involvement in foreign wars came, not from a sampling of public opinion, but from a deep-seated and unchanging conviction. Knowing that, they scratched their tickets to give her a substantial majority.

America First

From the Des Moines Tribune.

A GROUP of Des Moines Greeks and Italians got together the other evening to demonstrate to each other and to the public that the animosities of the Old World are not going to be transferred to their relations here.

It was a fine demonstration and example. These people are all Americans first. No insuperable differences separate them.

Of course, they have certain emotions with respect to the Fascist attack against Greece. Most of us do. And especially those of Greek origin feel deeply because of the knowledge that many of their families are in constant danger. For that matter, the Italians whose relatives and friends are necessarily a part of the Fascist army are equally disturbed.

Still, their lives are going to be lived here. They have cast their lots here. And so they reject the divisiveness that sentiment might otherwise create.

Those who got up the fellowship meeting hope that Greeks and Italians everywhere in the United States will follow this example. They hope that Americans of other origins, too, whose former homelands are involved in conflict, will put their unity in a new and free nation ahead of everything else.

The Tribune assumes this is already so. But a tangible demonstration of it does no harm.

Story of the Associated Press

Stanley Walker, Author of "City Editor," New York Herald Tribune Books.

THE Associated Press, in one form or another, has been in existence 92 years. Anyone attempting to write a history of the Associated Press naturally would be expected to keep in mind two main considerations: the story of the news-gathering organization itself and the story of the time in which it operated. The sheer bulk of the facts, the tremendous procession of events and the thousands of individuals who took part in this parade combine to make any such task exceedingly difficult.

In carrying out his assignment in "A. P.: The Story of News" (Farrar & Rinehart, New York), Oliver Gramling, a veteran Associated Press reporter and executive, has had the blessing and co-operation of the organization and, it is understood, the active assistance of many present and former employes in tracking down and checking long-buried or confused incidents.

It was a big job and Mr. Gramling can afford to be proud of the result. Every honorable journalist also can afford to find himself experience a feeling of pride, for this is, in large part, the story of devotion to the ideal of truth in news. The book, to be sure, has its imperfections, but it covers a massive field and, in the main, does it completely and with feeling and clarity.

* * *

From unpromising beginnings, the Associated Press has grown until it covers the earth. Its correspondents who years ago were occasionally despised and reviled—although there were some brave and able men in those days—are now among the aristocrats of the profession.

Melville Stone did much to bring this about. His successors have carried on, adapting their methods to a changing world. The strength of the organization lies in two things: it seeks the truth impartially, and in its setup it is co-operative—that is to say, it is non-profit-making.

Mr. Gramling has high praise for Frank B. Noyes of Washington, for many years president of the Associated Press, and for Kent Cooper, the dynamic go-getter who has been manager for the last 15 years, and whose genius at communications and organization problems has long been recognized.

Cooper came along at a time when the Associated Press needed a progressive touch, and he supplied it, though not without many a bitter argument with the more reactionary groups in the membership.

* * *

Most of this book is episodic. The material is so vast that Mr. Gramling, no doubt, had to hit upon this as the most feasible method of telling his story in the space of a book, even such a fat volume as this.

There are many heroes among the newsmen he mentions. There are stories of heroism and of enterprise which deserve to be read and pondered by everyone who is interested in the hows and whys of getting the news. A lot of gallant lives have gone into the making of the Associated Press. Mr. Gramling mentions some of them, but there could not be room for them all.

A grand story, and yet the captious journalist can pick out a good many flaws in Mr. Gramling's performance. For one thing, he is inclined to be rather uncritical. No matter how he may try to be objective, he still gives the impression that he is writing as a member of the family. An outsider, with a more detached viewpoint, or feeling, might have done better, but that is only a guess, and perhaps unfair.

TWO WOMEN WIN AWARDS FOR BEST MISSOURI PAPERS

Mrs. Carrie Rogers Clark, Trenton, and Miss Ella Pearl Smith, Clinton, Selected.

OPEN FORUMS HELD AT CONVENTION

Association Discusses Advertising and Circulation Problems — Two Group Luncheons Given.

Winners of annual awards for general excellence in the daily and weekly newspaper field as represented by the membership of the Missouri Press Association were announced today at one of the final sessions of the seventy-fourth annual convention of the association at Hotel Jefferson.

The award for the best daily newspaper went to the Trenton Republican Times, published by Mrs. Carrie Rogers Clark, while the best weekly publication was adjudged to be the Clinton Eye, published in Henry County by Miss Ella Pearl Smith and Homer H. Johnson.

The Kansas City Board of Trade gave the awards, each consisting of a $100 scholarship to the University of Missouri. The winning papers, in turn, select the scholarship recipients.

Open Forums.

Advertising and circulation problems were discussed at meetings this morning, the 300 delegates composed of men and women who write and edit the State's news participating in open forum sessions. J. G. Morgan of the Unionville Republican was chairman of the session on local advertising and Meredith Garten of the Leader-Journal, Pierce City, was chairman of a forum on circulation.

Dr. Conrad H. Hammar, professor of agricultural economics, University of Missouri, addressed another group on the relationship of the national defense program to a demand for farm products. The outlook in the paper and printers' supplies market was discussed by D. J. Rielley of the Graham Paper Co.

Luncheons were given by the Missouri members of the Associated Press and the "Missouri Group" of the State press association.

Publicity and Shop Management.

Afternoon sessions included discussions of publicity control and shop management problems. The convention will elect officers late today and consider a report of its resolutions committee. It will close with a dinner tonight, addressed by Carroll Binder, editor of the Foreign Service of the Chicago Daily News. He will speak on "The United States in a World at War."

The Missouri Women's Press Club, which is holding its fourth annual convention during the press association's meeting, held a business meeting today and will be host at an afternoon tea for all women attending the meetings. Mrs. Joseph L. Weiner, president of the St. Louis Alumnae Chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, told the club today of the national employment program conducted by that journalism sorority.

W. W. Copeland, manager of the United Press Associations at Buenos Aires, Argentina, addressing one of the opening sessions of the convention yesterday, said that reciprocal trade agreements between the United States and South American countries would constitute a barrier against Nazi infiltration there. He advocated a generous loan policy, said 90 per cent of South American papers were exponents of democracy.

Greatest contribution South American countries could make to defense of the Western Hemisphere, Copeland said, would be to permit the United States to establish naval, aerial and military bases at strategic points.

WILLKIE DEMOCRATS TO REORGANIZE IN CITY

Will Drop Candidate's Name and Probably Call Selves Jeffersonians.

A committee of nine members of the Willkie Democratic Club of St. Louis met today to organipe a new group to furnish the "loyal opposition" to the Democratic administration in Washington recommended by Wendell L. Willkie in his nation-wide broadcast last Monday.

In accordance with the request of the defeated Republican candidate for President, the new organization will drop the name of Willkie and a new title, probably "Jeffersonians," will be selected.

Appointment of a committee to establish a successor group was authorized yesterday at a meeting of about 90 members of the Willkie Democratic Club at American Hotel. Committee members, named by Lee Meriwether, chairman, are: Sterling E. Edmunds, attorney; Joseph Forshaw, head of a stove concern; John H. Sutherland, patent attorney; William W. Warren, real estate dealer; Joseph W. Preiss, retired investment broker; Clark G. Hardeman, attorney; Mrs. Frank J. V. Krebs, 9365 Clayton road; Mrs. Davis Biggs, 457 North Taylor avenue, Kirkwood, and Mrs. William H. Keech, Hotel Chase.

Sutherland was treasurer and Hardeman secretary of the Willkie Democratic Club, which campaigned actively for the Republican presidential nominee from its headquarters at 817 Locust street. The committee meeting was at Hardemann's office, 203 North Tenth street.

Meriwether, who had been active in Democratic politics for many years, said the new group should be organized along lines that would attract Democratic voters, but Republicans would be invited to join.

Other members spoke of the necessity of carrying on "Willkie's crusade" and the "fight for the preservation of our liberty and rights," asserting the issue was "Jeffersonianism against New Dealism."

CHURCH FURNITURE COMPANY FILES DENIAL OF INSOLVENCY

Carondelet Manufacturing Co. Asks That It Be Permitted to Reorganize.

The Carondelet Manufacturing Co., 5836 South Broadway, filed an answer in United States District Court yesterday denying insolvency, but asking that it be permitted to file a voluntary plan of reorganization under the amended Bankruptcy Act. Three creditors filed an involuntary petition in bankruptcy against the firm a week ago, alleging insolvency.

Judge George H. Moore set Jan. 9 for a hearing and continued the present management until that time. The company, which manufactures church furniture, stated in its answer that although it was short of cash, its assets were $163,912 and liabilities $74,213.

TWO FORMER FRENCH OFFICIALS SENTENCED

Men Tried in Absentia Accused of Seeking to Escape to U. S. With $240,000.

CLERMONT-FERRAND, France, Nov. 16 (AP).—Two former Finance Ministry officials were sentenced in absentia yesterday on charges of attempting to escape to Washington with two suitcases filled with secret documents and about $240,000 in gold bars, money and jewels.

The papers allegedly included reports of the deposed French Generalissimo, Maurice Gustave Gamellin, on conduct of the war, and the gold, money and jewels were said to have belonged to the late Madame Deportes, friend of former Premier Paul Reynaud.

The two men, Cominique Leca, director of the Ministry of Finance under Reynaud, and Gilbert Deveaux, a subdirector, were named special attaches to the French Embassy in Washington June 19. They were stopped in Lisbon on June 29 by the French Ambassador, who seized the suitcases and ordered them to return to France.

They now are believed to be in England.

They were tried by a military court on charges of desertion, sentenced to 10 years in prison, stripped of their military rank and of their citizenship for 20 years.

Madame Deportes was killed in an automobile accident just after the armistice while riding with Reynaud, who escaped with head injuries.

ST. LOUIS WOMAN, CHILD HURT WHEN DAY COACH IS DERAILED

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Mrs. Ludalla Crawley and her two-year-old daughter, Arlene, of St. Louis, suffered minor injuries when a day coach of a St. Louis-bound Wabash train left the tracks here yesterday. Mrs. Mary Stephenson of Toledo, O., also was injured slightly.

The derailed car came to a stop at a 45-degree angle over a 20-foot embankment. Trainmen did not immediately learn the cause of the derailment, which occurred when the train was traveling at about 12 miles an hour.

The locomotive of the Monon Hoosier Limited, which following the Wabash train, was derailed when the train was rerouted to another track a short time after the first accident. No one was hurt.

4 ST. LOUIS DOCTORS ELECTED

Chosen as Section Heads by Southern Medical Association.

Four St. Louisans head specialized sections of Southern Medical Association following its annual election yesterday in Louisville, Ky.

Dr. Grayson Carroll was named chairman of the section on urology; Dr. A. H. Conrad, dermatology and syphilology; Dr. W. K. McIntyre, proctology; Dr. Jean V. Cooke, pediatrics.

$58,000,000 Highway Tunnel Linking Manhattan, Queens Opened

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP).—The new $58,000,000 two-tube, PWA-financed tunnel from midtown Manhattan under the East River to Queens was formally opened to traffic yesterday.

Should a truck more than 12¼ feet high approach either entrance, an electric eye sounds a warning signal and a guard informs the truck driver he must take another route because his truck is too high.

As night falls, another eye lights the lights along the tunnel approaches.

From these dials, the control man can tell how many automobiles are moving north or south in both tubes, what the tunnel's carbon-monoxide content is, whether there is a fire or a wreck and exactly where it is—all from photo-electric cell action.

Tunnel fire-fighting or wreck-clearing equipment can reach the scene in one minute.

COMMUNISTS DROP AFFILIATION WITH INTERNATIONALE

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP). — Meeting in special convention, 200 national delegates of the Communist party today unanimously adopted a resolution to "cancel and dissolve organization affiliation to the Communist Internationale."

Adoption of the resolution was on recommendation of their national committee, reported to them in an address by Earl Browder, national secretary.

In addition to the Communist Internationale, the resolution also named "all other bodies of any kind outside the boundaries of the United States. . . ."

The resolution said this was done "for the specific purpose of removing the Communist party from the terms of the so-called Voorhis Act, which has been enacted by Congress and goes into effect in January, 1941, and which would otherwise tend to destroy the position of the Communist party as a legal and open political party of the American working class."

Browder termed the Voorhis Act "harmful and destructive of the democratic rights of the people," and asserted the legislation was "designed to coerce the people into submission to the entry of the United States into the imperialistic war and as a part of the sweep of 'Fascization' over the capitalist world."

William Z. Foster, party chairman, told the delegates in an opening address that the Voorhis "foreign control bill outlaws organizational expressions of the principle of the international working class solidarity, and creates an emergency situation for our party as it will for trade unions."

The Voorhis Act requires registration with the United States Attorney-General of organizations subject to "foreign control" or "advocating overthrow of the United States Government."

PRODUCER MARTIN BECK DIES; FOUNDED ORPHEUM CIRCUIT

Built Palace Theater on Broadway, Which Billed Nation's Best Vaudeville Acts.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP).—Martin Beck, long identified with the theater, first as an actor and later as a manager and producer, died today from complications following an abdominal operation. He was 71 years old.

Beck founded the Orpheum circuit in San Francisco in 1903, from which the extensive RKO enterprises sprang. He built the Palace Theater on Broadway, which billed the nation's best vaudeville and variety actors, and was owner of the Martin Beck Theater in New York.

Beck's wife was at his bedside when he died. She testified in his behalf a year ago when his niece, Mrs. Lillian Schrein, who was secretary and treasurer of the Beck interests, answered his accusations that she took large sums of money from the producer with the explanation that they constituted the gifts of a man to his mistress. Beck denied this.

Mrs. Schrein, mother of three children, was convicted of forgery and grand larceny involving about $60,000 and was sentenced to two to four years in prison.

MYRNA LOY PLANS TO DIVORCE PRODUCER ARTHUR HORNBLOW

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 16 (AP).—Myrna Loy, the movies' "perfect wife," and her producer-husband, Arthur Hornblow, are headed toward the divorce court.

Ending months of rumors that all was not well between them—each rumor quickly denied—Miss Loy announced through her attorney last night: "It is with great reluctance that we admit that we are ending our marriage."

The attorney, George Cohen, said divorce proceedings would start "at an early date."

To this Hornblow added: "What Myrna says is true. I face the fact with great sadness. We have tried for a long time to adjust the inescapable complications of our careers. It has not been possible. That still leaves her the loveliest woman in the world."

DR. MEYER TO KEEP COUNTY POST AS HEALTH OFFICER

Dr. Theodore R. Meyer will remain as St. Louis County Health Commissioner, he announced yesterday after a meeting with the County Court. He declined an offer to become Toledo (O.) Health Commissioner at an increase in pay of $1500 a year, saying he wished to complete health matters he was working on here.

Among those matters are the care of tubercular patients, for whom there is no hospital in the county now, and the health work being financed with Federal funds. His salary here is $5600 a year, paid by the Government, plus $1 and expenses paid by the county.

EX-STATE SENATOR CONVICTED OF MAIL FRAUD IN LOUISIANA

Dr. Clarence A. Lorio, Former L. S. U. Head, Accused of Contract Overcharges.

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 16 (AP).—Dr. Clarence A. Lorio, former State Senator and Louisiana State University medical director, was convicted of mail fraud by a Federal jury last night and faces a maximum fine of $2000 or five years' imprisonment, or both. Sentence was deferred.

The Government indicted Dr. Lorio on four counts, charging he used the mail to defraud the University of about $25,000 through overcharges on electrical contract work.

He was acquitted on three counts, but convicted on the fourth, which involved the mailing of a bill for $495 by the Scanlon-Norris Co. of Madison, Wis., to the Evans Electrical Supply Co., here for an operating room light for the L. S. U. hospital.

PIANIST PERCY GRAINGER MOVES TO SPRINGFIELD, MO.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 16. — Percy Grainger, noted Australian composer and pianist, and his wife are making Springfield their home. Last June they passed through the city and liked it, whereas they did not like the cold of New York and Chicago, and decided to move here. Furthermore, Grainger said, its location is an advantage, as he has a heavy concert schedule in the Middle West this winter. The Graingers have sold their home at White Plains, N. Y., and have taken an apartment.

In their new home they have both settled down to their respective activities. Grainger practices long hours each day, and composes. Mrs. Grainger, a blue-eyed Swedish woman, is a painter and poet, and has recently had a book of poems published in England.

DIES COMMITTEE TO ASK CONGRESS FOR MILLION

Chairman Says He Also Will Seek Broader Powers for Inquiry.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP).—Chairman Dies (Dem.), Texas, declared today that his House Committee on ur.-American Activity had evidence that Germany, Italy, Japan and Russia were "working very closely" in this country to prevent United States preparedness and to prevent aid to England.

Dies, back in the capital after an absence of more than two months, said he would ask Congress "for at least $1,000,000" to combat such activity and would also request broader powers for the committee to publicize persons known to have connections with subversive groups.

Dies asserted that his committee had a list of 300,000 persons and that he proposed to bring them before the committee "one by one." He added that past committee experience had shown that "exposure" brought to an end the effectiveness of foreign agents.

Dies said he would recommend that his committee release a 500-page printed report which he said contained "irrefutable evidence connecting consular representatives of the German Government with "'fifth column' activities." He proposed, he added, to issue later a similar report on Italian consular agents.

"Russia and Japan will be eventually involved," he said.

Dies declared there were hundreds of foreign agents or "persons of doubtful patriotism" in national defense industries. The names of some of these, he added, had been made known to the manufacturing plants involved and to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

In some cases, he said, no dismissals had taken place. He had "learned indirectly," he continued, that some employers had refused to dismiss employes because of an understanding that National Labor Board policy forbade such dismissals.

"I don't know whether that's right," he said, "but we are going to have a showdown."

LOGAN BILL VOTE DEMANDED BEFORE CONGRESS QUITS

Senate to Be Asked to Consider Measure for Court Review of U. S. Agencies' Work.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP).—Demands for action on the Logan-Walter bill and on legislation to revise the Wagner Labor Act raised new difficulties today for leaders trying to bring about an adjournment of Congress next week.

Advocates of the Logan-Walter measure, designed to facilitate court review of the work of such Federal agencies as the Securities and Exchange Commission, disclosed they would ask Monday for Senate consideration. The House passed the bill last June.

The call for action on labor law revision came from President William Green of the American Federation of Labor. He wrote members of the Senate Labor Committee that by failing to vote on House-approved amendments they were creating the impression of "deliberately attempting" to keep the legislation from the Senate.

Labor Board Shakeup Likely.

Success of efforts to bring up either of these bills undoubtedly would prolong the session into December. There appeared to be but slender prospects of this, however, at least for the labor legislation, more especially since President Roosevelt's nomination of Dr. Harry A. Millis to a vacancy on the National Labor Relations Board yesterday was expected to result in a shakeup of that agency without congressional action.

Senator Holt (Dem.), West Virginia, an advocate of labor act changes, expressed the opinion that despite Green's move the amendments were "dead for this session." He wrote Green, however, that as the first practical step toward getting action Green should demand that Congress remain in session.

Senators Burke (Dem.), Nebraska, and King (Dem.), Utah, planned to seek the showdown on the Logan-Walter issue. They claimed support of various other Democratic members. Their insistence on action promised to add some Democratic backing to Republican opposition to adjournment.

The Republican position, as summarized by Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, was that "if we're in an emergency that won't allow the President to go more than 12 hours away from Washington, I'd say we're in an emergency that would not allow Congress to be 60 days from Washington or beyond its own recall."

Nominal Sessions Held.

Monday's sessions will be the first full-dress meetings of either House or Senate since several weeks before the Nov. 5 elections. Failing at that time to put through an adjournment resolution, Democratic leaders agreed on holding nominal sessions every three days until Nov. 18.

Now they are reported to be drumming up adjournment votes with the argument that Roosevelt's re-election showed there was no need for Congress to remain in session as a check on White House actions.

The renewed drive for passage of Wagner Act amendments was disclosed shortly after the President sent to the Senate the nomination of Dr. Millis to a five-year term on the Labor Board, replacing Chairman J. Warren Madden, whose term expired.

Labor sources predicted a shakeup of the board would result, and this impression prevailed also in congressional quarters where Millis' appointment aroused an enthusiasm indicating his prompt confirmation by the Senate.

This, in turn, gave rise to talk that amendments to the Wagner Act, under which the board operates, would get less widespread support in the Senate than formerly. Some members were regarded as preferring to give the recast board a chanice to work out changes itself.

NLRB Aids' Resignations.

Indicative of the possible scope of these changes was the fact that when Millis' appointment became known Nathan Witt, secretary of the board; Thomas I. Emerson, associate general counsel, and Alexander B. Hawes, chief administrative examiner, promptly resigned.

Removal of Witt had been demanded months ago by Board Member William M. Leiserson, who was overruled by Madden and Edwin S. Smith, the other member of the three-man agency. When Millis moves in, however, Leiserson is expected to be on the majority side, since the proposed new member and he are regarded as holding generally similar views on labor matters.

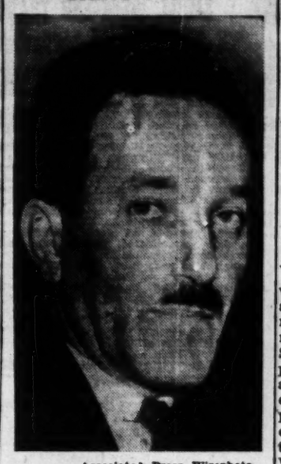

Along with the Millis nomination, Roosevelt also sent up the nomination of Madden to be a Judge of the United States Court of Claims. Whether that would receive quick consideration was uncertain, as Senators generally refrained from disclosing their views.

BASIL G. RUDD DIVORCED

Mrs. Leontine M. Rudd, 6 Clayton terrace, St. Louis County, obtained a divorce at Clayton yesterday from Basil G. Rudd, a former editorial department employe of the Post-Dispatch. The decree was granted by Circuit Judge Julius R. Nolte on ground of general indignities.

Rudd filed a general denial, but was not present and did not contest. They were married in 1931 and separated last Oct. 26.

M'KELLAR TO REQUEST SENATE INVESTIGATION OF PRESIDENTIAL POLLS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP). SENATOR McKELLAR (Dem.), Tennessee, said last night he was preparing to ask for a Senate investigation of polls conducted during the recent presidential campaign.

He said an inquiry was needed particularly because of polls conducted by Dr. George Gallup, which McKellar said had indicated "a close election."

McKellar, a Roosevelt supporter, said that "the only way the public can know whether such a poll is of value or not is to be shown how the results are arrived at; where the money comes from to pay for the poll; what is done with the money, and every other fact connected with this (Gallup's) or any other poll."

SWISS NAZIS MAKE DEMANDS ON BERN

BERN, Switzerland, Nov. 16 (AP).—A Swiss totalitarian group delivered what some newspapers called an ultimatum to the Government yesterday, demanding the right to disseminate party propaganda and the "rehabilitation of persecuted and imprisoned" colleagues.

The group, known as the Swiss National Movement, is not strong numerically, but neutral foreign observers consider its demands important in view of Switzerland's position between the Axis Powers.

Its program roughly parallels the Nazi party program. The members call themselves "soldiers of the Swiss movement of freedom."

"Herr Pilet (Dr. Marcel Pilet-Golaz, president of the Swiss Federation) has assured us that our demands will be most carefully considered," said a manifesto issued by the group. "He particularly promised us permission to print daily and weekly papers in the near future."

Der Bund of Bern, organ through which Government views frequently are expressed, condemned the movement's program as "a negation of Swiss democracy as formed through the centuries."

The Government decreed maximum punishment of a year in prison and fines of $7000 today for persons who violate regulations against hoarding, speculation and runs on merchandise.

Belleville Mayor Seeks 3rd Term.

Mayor George Remnsnider of Belleville announced yesterday he would seek a third term at Belleville's non-partisan municipal election next April.

HEIFETZ GIVES WALTON CONCERTO A PREMIERE

Violin Work Played Here for First Time on Symphony Contemporary Program.

By THOMAS B. SHERMAN

A first St. Louis performance of William Walton's violin concerto with Jascha Heifetz as the solo artist imparted a more than ordinary interest to yesterday afternoon's concert by the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra in the Municipal Auditorium. The concert was also distinctive in being composed exclusively of works by living composers, a fact which made it neither formidable nor unfamiliar, since the opening piece by Emerson Whithorne was short, rhythmic and vivid in color and the closing work was the E Flat Major Symphony of Jan Sibelius.

Strictly speaking, however, it was a contemporary program which proves only that all sorts of persons are living in our time.

The inclusion of the Walton concerto was, of course, an act of Mr. Heifetz, who, like all artists of farflung reputation, can play what he likes. That he chose this composition was a sufficient indication that he considered it worth playing. One may also assume that he regarded it as having a certain importance, since it is known that the composer wrote it at his suggestion and, in a manner of speaking, under his eye.

First-Hearing Impression.

In the face of this laudable attempt to escape from the eternal thralldom of Beethoven, Brahms and Mendelssohn, a serious listener has an obligation to be respectful and open-minded. But with all due respect to composer and soloist, it was not music that inflamed the imagination or struck deeply at the emotions—not, at least, at its first hearing.

In general the composer exhibited an original and charming personality. All three movements were full of ideas involving melodic fragments cleverly expressed, interesting harmonic devices and an authoritative management of rhythmic and dynamic contrasts. The fragmentary character of the thematic material would not be mentioned if it had not turned out that they were sterile in the sense that they did not contribute to any significant growth. In the absence of a broad and expansive development the listener's interest could only be sustained by devices. Of the three movements only the third had any sort of consistent inspiration.

The performance by Mr. Heifetz revealed his familiar virtues and the orchestral support, supplied by Mr. Golschmann and his colleagues, gave every evidence of careful preparation. The alert, musicianly playing of the orchestra evidently inspired Mr. Heifetz's gratitude, for he asked the men to stand with him and share the applause of the audience.

Sibelius' Fifth.

The playing of the Sibelius Fifth Symphony revealed qualities in the score that are not ordinarily mentioned in speaking of this or any other of the larger works of this composer. It had a lyrical expressiveness which together with Mr. Golschmann's willingness to make the orchestral texture openly gracious at certain moments, infected the whole work with a tincture of romantic poetry. Those who think of this music in terms of a stark, uninhabited world may feel that it suffered some loss of its heroic character in the process. But nothing was played that was not in the score and the general effect after all was certainly epic and grandiose. The orchestra, in general, was in good form. The miscue in the brasses at the end of the first movement was noticeable but not important.

Emerson Whithorne's atmospheric tribute to a famous Spanish bandido was an affair largely of rhythm and orchestral color. It was played with vigor. The program will be repeated tonight as usual.

STEEL, MOTOR SHARES LEAD QUIET LOWER PRICE DRIFT

NEW YORK, Nov 16 (AP).—Steels, motors and other prominent industrials bore the brunt of further selling in today's stock market.

Sliding tendencies were in evidence at the start. A few isolated issues managed to cling to modest advances, but losses of fractions to 2 or more points were widespread at the close.

Dealings were exceptionally light throughout, transfers for the two hours totaling 488,6.40 shares against better than 1,000,000 last Saturday.

While bearishness was not particularly pronounced in Wall street, brokers found many of their customers inclined to lighten accounts for the week end because of the renewal of intensified air bombings of England and fears fresh Axis blows between now and Monday, might prove unsettling to speculative sentiment.

At that, some cheer was derived from the slackness of offerings on the decline. This, from the standpoint of bullish analysts, indicated stocks still were in fairly strong hands. Liquidating reluctance also was attributed to the maintenance of highly optimistic business hopes.

U. S. Steel opened 10 minutes late on a block of 6000 shares, off a point. It extended the retreat before mild support arrived.

Occasional resistance was shown by Johns-Manville, du Pont, Union Carbide, Sperry and American Telephone. Utilities and rails were narrowly lower.

Bonds and commodities were irregular.

In the curb backsliding tendencies were exhibited by Aluminum of America, Bell Aircraft, Gulf Oil, Republic Aviation and American Gas.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Trustees of the Associated Gas and Electric Corporation reported today balance of income of $11,751,006 for 12 months ended Sept. 30 before interest, amortization, debt discount and administrative expenses. This compared with balance of $10,901,574 on the same basis in the preceding 12 months.

DEPARTMENT STORE SALES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP).—The Federal Reserve Board estimated today that department store sales in the week ended Nov. 9 averaged 6 per cent more than in the corresponding week last year.

This compared with a decrease of 5 per cent from last year in the week ended Nov. 2. In the four weeks ended Nov. 9, the average gain over last year was 3 per cent.

By Federal reserve districts, comparisons with a year ago for the week ended Nov. 9, were:

Increases—Boston 10, Cleveland 5, Richmond 6, Atlanta 6, Chicago 10, St. Louis 10, Kansas City 14, Dallas 27, San Francisco 7 per cent.

Decreases—New York 1, Philadelphia 4 per cent.

WEEK'S LUMBER SURVEY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP).—The National Lumber Manufacturers' Association reported yesterday that lumber production for the week ended Nov. 9 stood at 71 per cent of the seasonal weekly average of 1929 and shipments were 89 per cent of the average 1929 weekly shipments.

Production for the week totaled 226,054,000 feet, which was 4 per cent less than the previous week, and 5 per cent less than the corresponding week a year ago.

Shipments aggregated 255,830,000 feet, which was 10 per cent less than the previous week and 12 per cent greater than last year's corresponding week.

Orders booked during the week were 231,728,000 feet, which was 13 per cent less than the previous week, and 25 per cent greater than the corresponding week last year.

Boston Wool.

BOSTON, Nov. 16 (U. S. D. A.)—There was little demand for domestic wools on the Boston market during the past week. Occasional inquiries were received for fine combing delaine fleeces at 44-45 cents, in the grease. Little interest was shown in medium grades and bright fleeces, but quotations were unchanged at 46-47 cents, in the grease, for both three-eighths and quarter blood combing wools. Some country packed lots of mixed three-eighths and quarter blood fleeces were being offered at 43-45 cents, in the grease, delivered East.

Linseed Oil.

Linseed oil, in 1 to 4 bbl. lots, was quoted at 9.5 per lb. for raw and 9.9 per lb. for boiled; half bbls. .06c more.

BOND PRICES MIXED IN SMALL WEEK-END TRADE

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP).—Price changes were small and the trend mixed in today's bond market.

Some profit-selling for the week-end recess was evident in the rails, but losses were generally confined to minor fractions up into fore part of last hour.

Japanese loans were in supply at losses of a point or more, but other foreign loans held close to Friday's prices.

U. S. Governments were off a shade in extremely quiet turnover.

Corporate loans displaying a hesitant note included Illinois Central 4¾s, Erie 5s, Delaware & Hudson refunding 4s, Commonwealth Edison 3½s, Armour 4s, Southern Pacific 4½s, Missouri-Kansas-Texas 5s and Western Union 5s.

Edging ahead a bit were Missouri Pacific 5s, Consolidated Edison 3½s and International Telephone 5s.

Japan 6½s were fairly active on the declining side, as were Italy 7s. Panama 5s, assented, wielded more than a point, against a similar gain for Uruguay 4¼s.

COTTON MARKET CLOSES 4 TO 10 POINTS LOWER

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP).—Cotton futures declined abruptly today, closing 4 to 10 points lower.

An early advance, which carried prices to new highs for the season, attracted week end profit taking and liquidation. October was relatively weak under hedging.

WHEAT AND CORN ARE HIGHER AT CLOSING

CHICAGO, Nov. 16 (AP).—Wiping out an realy loss of almost a cent, the wheat market rallied strongly in late trading today and closed with gains of about a cent.

Much of the upturn was associated with covering purchases against previous short sales and week-end evening up operations. Traders said there were reports of expanded mill purchasing on the early break, which was partly in sympathy with weakness of securities. Market experts asserted continuation of the country policy of sealing wheat under loans, despite the recent price advance to well above loan rates, indicated the attitude of producers toward possible price trends. The rate of storing exceeded 1,000,000 bushels daily the past week.

Outstanding strength of soybeans, which shot up 3¼ to 4⅞ cents a bushel to $1.04 for December delivery, highest of the season, contributed buying power to grains. Good demand for beans from shippers and industries and continued small farm marketings bolstered prices.

Wheat closed ⅝@1⅛ higher than yesterday; Dec., 89½@⅝; May, 88⅞@89⅛; corn ¼@⅞ up; Dec., 64½@⅜; May, 65¼@⅛. Oats ⅝@⅞ higher.

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Nov. 16.—In the cash grain section of the market today wheat was 1 to 2c lower, corn unchanged to 1c higher, oats nominally unchanged.

HOOVER RENEWS PLEA FOR U. S. TO FEED EUROPEANS

Says He Cannot Believe Americans Will Let 11,000,000 People Die for 'Flimsy' Reasons.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP).—A renewed plea for assistance to the peoples of Europe's conquered nations has come from former President Herbert Hoover, who directed the Belgian Relief Commission during the World War.

"I simply refuse to believe, and I am going to continue to disbelieve, that American public opinion is going to condemn 15,000,000 people to die, upon flimsy arguments and informal polls," Hoover said last night in a nationwide broadcast from Vassar College.

He mentioned specifically "the little democracies" of Finland, Norway, Holland, Belgium and central Poland and asserted the United States had a moral responsibility toward these countries, all of which "sacrificed and fought against overwhelming odds to maintain freedom and their democratic ideals."

He made no proposals regarding the French, "because of the present obscurity of their food and political situation."

Plan Again Summarized.

Hoover summarized again the plan he advanced last August:

"That the Germans on one hand agree (a) not to take any of the domestic products of these people and to furnish the equivalent of any food that already may have been taken; (b) to permit such imports as can be had from other parts of Europe; (c) to allow free passage of food ships without attack.

"On the other hand, the British to raise the blockade so as to allow one food ship at a time to pass so long as the guarantees are fulfilled.

"And finally, both sides to agree to adequate control of distribution by a neutral organization to assure that these agreements are carried out."

World War Pledges Kept.

Hoover countered arguments that the Germans "would get the food" by saying that during the World War the protective agreements obtained by his commission were followed faithfully for four years.

"It is to the interest of the German army that cesspools of disease and contagion are not created," he continued. "And it is to the interest of the whole world that they are not created."

The proposed plan would be "justifiably ended," he added, if the supplies could not be protected from the German army.

REAL ESTATE BOARDS SEEK REVISION OF FEDERAL TAXES

National Group for Repeal of Capital Gains and Loss Levy, Change in Inheritance Impost.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 16 (AP)—The National Association of Real Estate Boards outlined today a nation-wide campaign to eliminate the Federal capital gains and loss tax on real estate and to revise the Federal inheritance tax on real estate.

Ending its annual convention, the organization approved last night a resolution on tax revision and invited state and local groups to co-operate in an effort to achieve "overall limitation of taxes on real estate."

The resolution suggested appointment of a national commission on taxation and land policies to evolve a long-range policy.

The association "strongly opposed" extension of the United States Housing Authority.

Classified advertising in newspapers is by far the most effective medium for real estate advertising, Kenneth S. Keyes of Miami reported to the brokers' division.

WEBER SCORES AFTER LATERAL FROM OSTERHOLT

LEWIS FIELD, STILLWATER, Ok., Nov. 16. — Ideal football weather greeted St. Louis University's Billikens this afternoon as they took the field against the Cowboys of Oklahoma A. and M. College in a Missouri Valley Conference football game.

The Billikens, who came prepared for a cold afternoon, were greeted on their arrival this morning with a warm sun and soft breezes. All Billikens appeared in poor shape, suffering from what trainer Bob Bauman diagnosed as train sickness.

Coach W. J. "Dukes" Duford of St. Louis and Jim Lookabaugh of the Aggies made no change in their previously announced starting line-ups. It was the first meeting of the schools since 1929 when they played to a scoreless tie. A victory for the Aggies today would put them one-half game ahead of Tulsa University in the Valley race while victory for St. Louis would give the Billikens a .500 average in the Conference standings.

FIRST QUARTER.

Oklahoma won the toss and chose to defend the west goal with a slight breeze at its back. Reynolds returned Aussieker's kickoff 30 yards to the Aggie 45-yard line. Three line bucks netted a first down. Reynolds passed 30 yards to Jones, but officials ruled the receiver stepped out of bounds to make the catch. Reynolds on a reverse made a first down on the St. Louis 30-yard line and then passed to Moore for a first down on the St. Louis 16-yard line. Three plays later Reynolds cut off right tackle for a first down on the six-yard line. Faubion slipped to the one-foot line and the Billikens took time out.

On the next play, with five and one-half minutes of the game gone, Faubion plunged over tackle for the first touchdown of the game. Reynolds' kick was good. Score: Oklahoma Aggies 7, St. Louis 0.

Rafalko returned Reynolds' kickoff 23 yards to the St. Louis 26-yard line, but the Billikens were off side to nullify the return. Reynolds' kick bounced crazily and Rafalko downed the ball on the St. Louis 10-yard line. Aussieker and Yokubaitis combined on line smashes for a first down on the 21-yard line. Aussieker passed 35 yards to Grenia, who was downed on the Oklahoma 41-yard line. Two plays later Aussieker fumbled and Southall recovered on the Oklahoma 37-yard line.

Aussieker was injured on the next play and was carried off the field. He was replaced by Weber. Moore downed Reynolds' quick-kick on the St. Louis five-yard line. Weber punted from the end zone to Reynolds who returned 10 yards to the St. Louis 22-yard line. Reynolds and Faubion smashed to a first on the St. Louis 10-yard line. On the next play Barnett recovered Reynolds fumble on the eight-yard line. Reynolds returned Weber's punt about five yards to midfield as the quarter ended. Score: Oklahoma Aggies 7, St. Louis 0.

SECOND QUARTER.

Three line plays failed and Reynolds kicked over the goal line. The Billikens getting the ball on their 20-yard line. A fast charging line almost smothered Weber, who managed to get off a weak pass that was incomplete. Gall lost two yards on a fake reverse. Reynolds took Weber's punt on his 30-yard line, where he fumbled when hit hard by Dernoncourt. Osterholt recovered for St. Louis on the 31-yard line. A pass failed and then Weber fired a short pass to Grenia, hiding at the line of scrimmage, that put the ball one foot short of a first down. Gall smashed center for the necessary yardage.

The Billikens scored on a bit of razzle dazzle, Gall giving the ball to Osterholt on an end around. Osterholt skirted his own right end and as he was about to be tackled lateraled to Weber who scored standing up. Weber's kick was good. Score: St. Louis 7, Oklahoma Aggies 7.

The Billikens' muffled the Aggie attack and Reynolds punted to Rafalko, who went out of bunds on the St. Louis 30-yard line. Gall, on a fake reverse, picked up four yards, and Weber cut through center for another four yards. Gall hit center for a first down on the 40-yard line. Weber raced around right end for a nine-yard gain. Gall smashed center for a first down on the 50-yard line.

Two line smashes gained two yards and then Grenia was nailed behind the line for a five-yard loss. Weber's punt went over the end zone. Reynolds ran from a punt formation and lost about a yard. Rensing ran Reynolds' punt 10 yards back to the St. Louis 43-yard line. Pfuhl, who has been troubled with a shoulder injury, replaced Grenia and on the first play was injured. He was relieved by Crook. Weber picked up five yards as the half ended. Score: St. Louis 7, Oklahoma Aggies 7.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS STADIUM, Nov. 16.—Beaumont, needing a victory to clinch the 1940 Public High School League football championship, met McKinley in the second game of the doubleheader here this afternoon before a crowd of 6000.

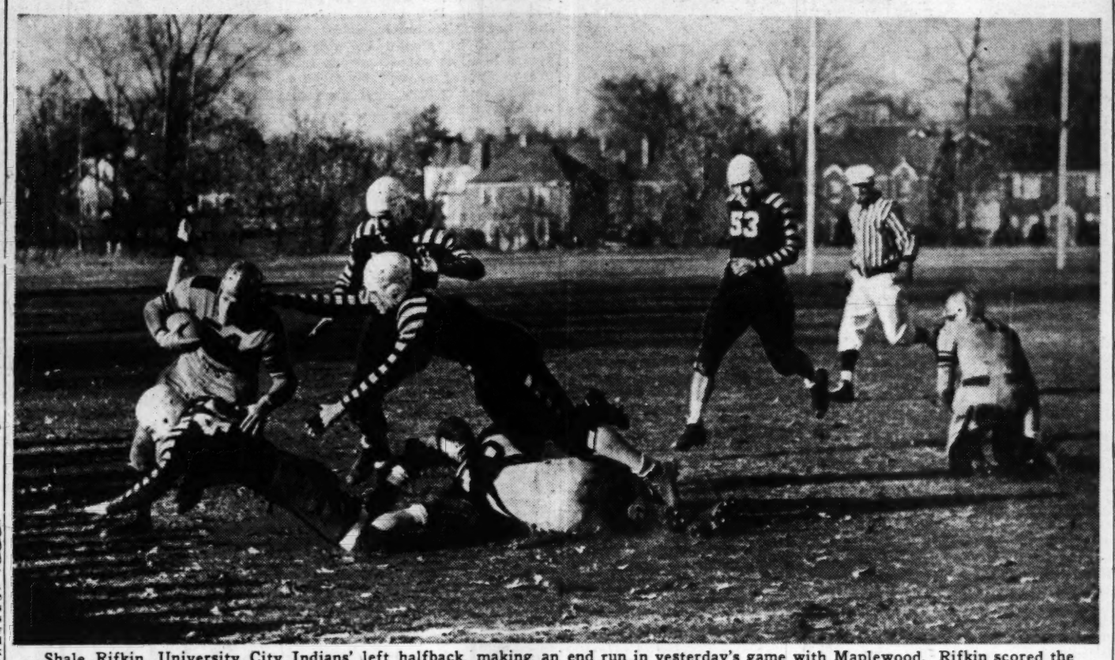

FIRST QUARTER.

McKinley kicked off and Jansing ran back to Beaumont's 42-yard line. With Tevis, Jansing and Doelger carrying the ball, Beaumont got into McKinley territory quickly. From the McKinley 24-yard mark, Beaumont steadily advanced and then fumbled to stop the attack. On fourth down, a pass was intercepted by Grady and McKinley took over on its own 15-yard mark.

McKinley hit Beaumont's line for two first downs to advance the ball to the Goldbugs' 35-yard line. Crowder then dashed 30 yards to Beaumont's 34-yard mark. McKinley began to pass and Crowder threw to McKenna for a first down on Beaumont's 16-yard line. Crowder then cleared Beaumont's left end for the remaining distance and a touchdown. Kekeris went in for McKinley and place-kicked the extra point. Score: McKinley 7, Beaumont 0.

One minute remained in the period as Tevis ran the kickoff back to Beaumont's 25-yard line. At the end of the period, ti was Beaumont's ball, second down, eight to go on its 27-yard line.

It's a Gain for the Indians

MISSOURI 0, OKLAHOMA 0, FIRST HALF

NORMAN, Ok., Nov. 16 (AP). — Missouri's third-place Tigers, defending Big Six grid champs, sought to displace Oklahoma from the No. 2 spot here today in a homecoming game that closes the conference schedule for the Sooners.

The clear, crisp weather was ideal, except for a light, blustery wind which blew lazily down-field from the north. A crowd of around 25,000 was in the stands at the kickoff.

Missouri won the toss and kicked off with the wind to the Sooners.

FIRST QUARTER.

Hamm fumbled the kickoff but recovered on his 12-yard line. The Tiger line held and Martin kicked, Christman returning 10 yards to O. U. 45-yard line. Martin intercepted Christman's pass and returned eight yards ot his 25-yard line. Martin kicked out on the Tiger 31-yard line. Mathews returned Christman's punt 18 yards to the Sooner 37-yard line. Three plays carried only to the 45-yard line and Martin kicked out on the Tiger 11-yard line.

Power plays, with Christman and Reece carrying, brought a bare first down. Greenwood punted out on the Sooner 17-yard line. Martin picked up a first down at the 28-yard line. The quarter ended with Oklahoma in possession at its 32-yard line. Score, Missouri 0, Oklahoma 0. ....

FAIR weather prevails in all sections of the North-Central and Plains States this morning, and temperatures are near or slightly above freezing everywhere. Some snow remains on the ground in most of the northern part of the district, with greatest depth reported from east-central Minnesota (7 to 9 inches). Fair weather will continue in all areas during the next 36 hours, with some cloudiness in North Dakota on Sunday. Temperatures, for the most part, will be slightly higher.

Sunrise tomorrow, 6:47 a. m.

BULLDOGS TALLY ON FUMBLE AND INTERCEPTED PASS

By J. Roy Stockton

FRANCIS FIELD, Nov. 16.—Two intercepted passes, followed by runs of 80 and 65 yards, gave the Drake Bulldogs two touchdowns and a 13 to 7 lead over the Washington Bears after the first half of their Missouri Valley Conference game here this afternoon.

John Kubelius, Drake tackle, plucked the ball out of the air as it fell from Bud Schwenk's hands when Chandler Olsen hit the Washington passer after five minutes of the first period, and with a clear field ahead of him and protective interference between himself and all the Bears, Kubelius ran 80 yards for the first touchdown.

In the second quarter, Walter O'Connor, Bulldog left halfback, intercepted a Schwenk pass on his 35-yard line and did some clever sidestepping as he ran 65 yards for the second touchdown. Todd Switzer place-kicked an extra point after the first score, but a fumble broke up the attempt at conversion on the second.

The Bears earned their touchdown in the first quarter with a 65-yard drive featuring passes by Schwenk and an end run by Jack Frost. Taking a punt on the Washington 35-yard line, Joe Ady hit the line for four yards and Schwenk passed to Frost to put the ball on the Drake 33-yard mark. After a 15-yard penalty for an illegal shift, Frost gained eight yards off tackle and Schwenk's pass, intended for Turley, was ruled complete on the enemy four-yard line because of interference by Harold Anderson. Frost then outran the opposition to circle his left end for the touchdown and Schwenk converted the extra point, tying the score at 7 to 7.

FIRST QUARTER.

Washington won the toss and defended the west goal, kicking off. Schwenk did the kicking, O'Connor running the ball back to his 20-yard line.

DRAKE—Frank made five on a reverse. Wero made a scant yard at center. O'Connor went around end, a scant yard short of a first down. Anderson punted to the Bears' 37-yard line.

WASHINGTON — Frost failed to gain off tackle. Schwenk's pass was incomplete and the Bears were penalized 15 yards for holding, putting the ball on their 23-yard line. A Schwenk pass was incomplete and Kowalchuk kicked out of bounds on the Drake 35-yard line.

DRAKE — Wero was stopped, as was Frank, on a double reverse. Anderson's pass was incomplete and Anderson then kicked out on the Bear 44-yard line.

WASHINGTON—Schwenk went around his right end for 22 yards, to Drake's 34-yard line. Frost was stopped. Schwenk passed, incomplete. Schwenk passed to Turley in the flat zone for a first down on the Drake 14-yard line. It was good for 20 yards. Schwenk faded back to pass, and when Olsen hit Schwenk, the ball fell out of Bud's hands, Kubelius catching it before it hit the ground. Kubelius, with a clear field, ran 80 yards for a touchdown. Switzer went into the game and converted the extra point with a place kick. Score: Drake 7, Washington 0.

Cox kicked off to the end zone and the Bears put the ball in play on their 20-yard line.

WASHINGTON — Frost made eight yards around his left end. Schwenk made a first down on the 30-yard line. Schwenk, smothered on a pass, lost seven yards. The naked reverse was smeared, the Bulldogs throwing Frost back to the 10-yard line. Kowalchuk punted to O'Connor, who returned to midfield.

Word was relayed from the officials that they ruled the Drake touchdown play an intercepted forward pass, rather than a recovered fumble. Ady replaced Hefelfinger and Lutz took Kowalchuk's place at quarter for the Bears.

DRAKE — Switzer made three yards through the line. Devine did a neat job pushing Drake interference against O'Connor, who thus lost 12 yards on a double reverse. Anderson kicked out on the Bears' 35-yard line.

WASHINGTON—Ady made four yards through the line. Schwenk passed to Frost, who made a clever catch and reached the Drake 33-yard line. Frost made a sizable gain around left end, but it was nullified, as the Bears were penalized 15 yards for holding. Frost gained back eight of the 15 yards. Schwenk passed to Turley on the Drake four-yard line, and when he dropped the ball it was ruled complete because of interference by Anderson.

Frost went wide around his left end for a touchdown, outrunning the opposition. Schwenk's place kick for the extra point was good, and the score was tied at 7-7.

Ady kicked off to O'Connor, who ran back to his 25-yard line. O'Connor dodged through for five yards. Frank was stopped. Anderson passed to O'Connor for a first down on the Drake 38-yard line. Switzer broke through a wagon gate for 25 yards before he was stopped by Frost on the Bear 37-yard line. Switzer was stopped by the line after making two yards. O'Connor's pass was incomplete. Switzer fumbled, Devine recovering on his 33-yard line as the quarter ended. Score: Washington 7, Drake 7.

SECOND QUARTER.

WASHINGTON — Hefelfinger and Lindow replaced Ady and Frost. White replaced O'Connor for Drake. Schwenk faked a pass and ran through the line for five yards. Schwenk was stopped on another thrust. Schwenk's pass rolled off Turley's fingers. Lutz kicked to White, who returned to his 31-yard line.

DRAKE—White made a yard on a double reverse. A shovel pass, Anderson to Frank, was good for five yards. Switzer was thrown on a fake reverse for a loss of a yard. Anderson kicked to the Bear 38-yard line.

WASHINGTON — Lindow made two yards off tackle. Schwenk passed to Lutz, but there was no gain made on the play. Lutz kicked to the Drake 85-yard line.

DRAKE—Cobb, Moore, Reeves, O'Connor and Dickson entered Drake lineup. O'Connor quick-kicked to Lindow, who returned to the 50-yard line.

WASHINGTON — Lindow went through the line for two yards. Schwenk's pass was intercepted by O'Connor on his 35-yard line and he ran 65 yards down the edge of the gridiron, sidestepping half a dozen would-be tacklers, for a touchdown. Johnson entered the game to place-kick, but the ball was fumbled and when Johnson tried to run with the ball he was stopped. Score: Drake 13, Washington 7.

WASHINGTON—Schwenk passed incomplete. Bud wasn't getting adequate protection on his passes. Lindow made two yards. Lutz passed to Schwenk, who made a fine catch and reached the Drake 47-yard line for a first down. Schwenk went off tackle, but the Bears were penalized six yards for offside, the official carelessly adding an extra yard. Schwenk passed to Devine to get back five of the six yards. Lindow lost five on an end run. Schwenk, rushed on a pass, fumbled, but Hefelfinger recovered on the Bear 33-yard line. It was fourth and 30 yards to go, and Lutz kicked to O'Connor, who was downed on his 29-yard line.

DRAKE—O'Connor fumbled and

Davis' Purse Held Up After He Loses to Zivic on Foul

Brooklyn Boxer Is 'Through'

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP).—Rowdy Al Davis of Brooklyn, who gave promise up to last night of being a boxing champion some time soon, is free today to shop around for another career.

After Referee Billy Cavanagh had stopped it in the second round and helped the cops carry the kicking, snarling Davis back to his corner, the three members of the State Athletic Commission said indignantly, that "Bummy" was through for good in their bailiwick.

Davis threw about 10 low blows into Zivic before Cavanagh stopped the thing. He had warned Davis twice earlier in the second round, and between the first and second, had wagged his finger at him.

Zivic was so angry when it ended that he rushed into Davis, and the pair fought like alley cats until police and Garden attendants separated them.

Examination afterward showed that Zivic was badly bruised and skinned up by the low punches. Davis was severely battered about the face from the beating he took in the first round.

It obviously was no match from the start. Zivic clouted Davis virtually at will, almost flooring him midway in the opening round. At that rate, the Brooklyn boy would have been in bad shape before the scheduled 10 rounds were up.

The blows he laid into Zivic once he got the range were full lefts that started near the floor and landed with a clang on the champ's protective gear. The angry crowd of 17,000 was yelling murder long before the referee acted, and some of them still were hanging around the dressing room an hour later in hopes of getting a punch at "Bummy."

Zivic is slated to defend his title here on Jan. 17 against the great little fighter from whom he took it, Henry Armstrong, and the winner was to have been matched with Davis, provided the latter made a good showing.

It was the first time since New York's so-called "no foul" rule was put into the book—some 11 years ago—that a fight has ended on a foul in this state. The rule permits a referee to stop a bout if a fighter continues to foul after repeated warnings.

New Jersey State Athletic Commissioner Abe J. Greene announced that any suspension meted out to Davis by the New York commission would be recognized in New Jersey.

National Cue Play Will Start Nov. 25

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP). — The start of the world's championship pocket billiard league, originally scheduled for Monday, has been postponed until Nov. 25, President Frank Julian announces. Eight players will compete in 112 games each in six cities before the league ends in April.

Williams Is Signed By Flyers

Burr Williams, who played hockey in St. Louis some seven years ago and who, after a turn with the Tulsa Oilers, was released last summer, has been signed by the Flyers and will be in the lineup tonight, when the St. Louis club plays Omaha at Omaha.

Williams was obtained to bolster the Flyers' defense, weakened by injuries. Leo Carbol went out in an accident early in the week, while Ayres was injured on the training trip. With Williams in line, Coach MacKinnon now has three defense men—Howard, Kashner and Williams.

U. City Is Winner by One Point

Eddie Flowers has been an alternate halfback for the University City Indians this year. Yesterday afternoon he rode the bench when Coach C. A. (Stubs) Muhl's eleven opened against the Maplewood Blue Devils. That didn't make any difference to Eddie—he'd do his part if given a chance. And do his part he did, for young Flowers used an educated toe to boot a point after touchdown with only three and one-half minutes to play remaining in the game at University City and give his team a 7-to-6 victory and a claim to the mythical "Big Four" title among the suburban schools.

Maplewood scored in the first quarter and for the next 49 minutes held the favored U. City eleven.

The Leafs counted their touchdown when halfback Bill Reed intercepted Bob Appleby's pass on the Indians' 45-yard mark. Gene Wishnoff passed 18 yards to Howard Sanders for a first down on the 27-yard line and then went around his own left end from a reverse for 26 yards and a first down on the one-yard stripe. He tallied three plays later. The attempted place kick for the extra point was low.

Late in the final quarter, U. City took a Maplewood punt on the Devils' 43-yard line. On the first play, Shale Rifkin lost eight yards, but gained four on the next attempt. Then things began to happen. Rifkins gave the ball to Appleby on a reverse and Appleby passed to Bob Sauer for a first down on the 12-yard line. Appleby again passed—this time to Rifkin on the one-yard line. On the next play Rifkin went over tackle for the touchdown on a reverse from Appleby. Then came Flowers' important place-kick.

In the matter of first downs, Maplewood had the advantage, counting 11 to 10 for the Muhlmen.

Amateur Boxer Is Set Down

Charles Winkler, an amateur fighter, representing the Tower A. C., was suspended for failure to appear for his scheduled bout on the South Broadway A. C.'s amateur boxing program last night, according to an announcement today from Bill Hellmich, president of the Ozark A. A. U.

"Winkler sent in a signed entry blank and failed to appear, giving us absolutely no notice, so there was nothing left, but to suspend the boxer," Hellmich said. "Of course, if he should be able to give a bonifide excuse for his failure to appear he will be given a hearing and reinstated if the facts warrant this move."

They hung 'em on the rafters at the South Broadway A. C. last night. Boxing returned to the Seventh and Shenandoah emporium and the more than 700 fans gathered there, at the cradle of boxing, shouted themselves hoarse as two boxers went down via the knockout route.

Ed Snelson, Soulard C. C., kayoed Harold Conklin, Belleville, in the third round of their middleweight encounter, while George Ortman, also of Soulard, knocked out Gene McGovern, Granite City, in the second round of a featherweight contest.

The Snelson family had to accept defeat, however, for Ed lost to Art Harrison, Central A. C. The younger Snelson was dropped for a count of three in the first round.

Results:

Johnny Roach, South Broadway A. C., outpointed Bill Scalise, Sherman Park C. C. Lightweights.

Burroughs Loses Again in Hockey to Villa Duchesne, 2-0

The John Burroughs girls' field hockey team dropped its second straight game to the Villa Duchesne squad when losing, 2-0, yesterday at Burroughs' field. Both scores were made in the first half.

Big Boy Leads in U. S. All-Age Trials

FLORENCE, Ala., Nov. 16 (AP). —A home-owned fox hound, Big Boy, led the way yesterday as the record field ran the second cast of the all-age trials of the National Foxhunters' Association in clear, cold weather. Big Boy, owned by H. L. Rice of Florence, had 105 points when tallies of the first cast were completed.

Frost Runs End For Bears' Tally

WASHINGTON—Schwenk made two yards. Frost was going around his left end for a good gain when he fumbled, O'Connor recovering on his own 28-yard line.

DRAKE—Cobb made six on a double reverse around his left end. Dickson was stopped. A minute of the half remained. O'Connor was stopped by Spafford. O'Connor punted to Frost, who ran back to his 29-yard line as the half ended. Score: Drake 13, Washington 7.

THIRD QUARTER.

WASHINGTON—Frost was stopped by the line, and so was Hefelfinger. Lutz kicked to O'Connor, who was downed on the Bear 41-yard line.

DRAKE—Reeves muffed a long pas from O'Connor. He had a clear field ahead of him. Cobb lost a yard on an end run. O'Connor's long pas for Gavin was incomplete. O'Connor kicked to Frost, who returned to his 25-yard line.

WASHINGTON—Hefelfinger, on a fake reverse ran through the line for nine yards. Schwenk made a first down on the 35-yard line. Frost cut back through tackle for six yards. Schwenk added two through the line. Hefelfinger was short of a first down and Lutz kicked out of bounds on the Drake 30-yard line.

DRAKE—O'Connor failed to gain. Kozak replaced Jurca at tackle for the Bears. Wero went over for a first down on his 42-yard inle. O'Connor was stopped. Schwenk broke up O'Connor's long pass, intended for Reeves. Wero gained two yards. Moore kicked into the end zone and the Bears put the ball in play on their 20-yard line.

He'll Be Hard to Beat

Substitutions: Roosevelt—Ecker, Warman, Illish, Lieberman, Anderson, Pennington; Central—Rogalski, Dunn, Podolski, Tachudin, Zarkowski, Bredenkamp, Cramer, Lepping, Allen, Fuerst.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS STADIUM, Nov. 16.—Central High made sure of the occupancy of the league cellar this afternoon when, in the opening game of the final City High School League doubleheader, the Midtowners lost to Roosevelt by a score of 19 to 0. Roosevelt scored touchdowns in the second, third and fourth periods.

Central thus lost its sixth league game in a row and in so doing, failed to score a single point. Opponents of Coach Jansen's team scored 168 points.

Cards Hire Conzelman For 1941

CHICAGO, Nov. 16 (AP).—The Chicago Cardinals, whose scrappy performances aren't fully reflected by their record of five losses, two victories and two ties in the National Professional League standings, will be coached again in 1941 by Jimmy Conzelman.

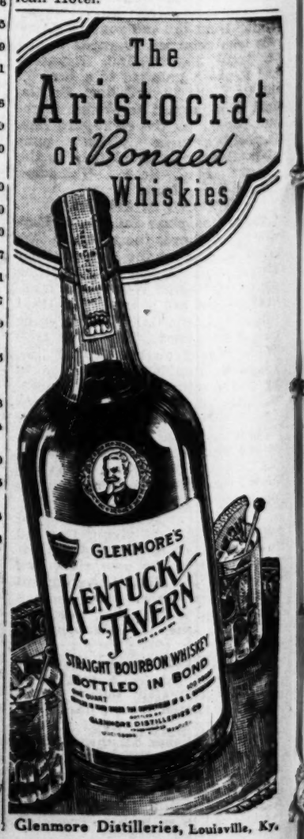

Owner Charles Bidwill, in signing Conzelman for another season, said he would "guarantee next year to have a team that would make them all step."

Conzelman began coaching the club this season, coming here from Washington University in St. Louis. Thus far his club has won two games, tied two and lost five.

WRAY'S COLUMN

The Passing of Pitching Paul.

PITCHIN' PAUL CHRISTMAN, who forward passed himself into the Hall of Fame and lifted the Missouri Tigers into national notice, is nearing the end of his collegiate football trail. . . . One big push against Oklahoma today and then a final effort against Kansas University on Thanksgiving day, and his book will be closed.

Already he has made the All-America team once. . . . He may make it again this year, although his own injuries, a weakened forward line and lack of the wonderful pass receivers of last year, have caused him to fall short of the high levels of 1940.

Christman achieved fame with the Tigers, but he might have been in the super class had Fate cast his lot with one of the top rank elevens of the country. . . . As it is Christman has no superior at passing, few equals as a runner and remains one of the best and coolest quarterbacks in the game today.

• • •

A Columbia (Mo.) observer writes of him:

"Paul always liked to run . . . He never has been nor will he ever be a Fancy Dan at this . . . But he is a fine line-plunger and the very guy you'd ask to carry the mail if your team needed three or four yards for a first down . . . Until the Colorado game that phase of the 1940 Christman had been absent . . . I for one hope he'll continue to run against Oklahoma and Kansas . . . It should help his 1940 bid for an All-America berth."

He's the Tops

PAUL CHRISTMAN

What of the 1941 Missouri Eleven?

WITH Christman and other stars graduating, what of Coach Don Faurot's prospects next year? . . . They'll be putting up that one pretty soon.

We'll knock it down right now by saying that the Tigers will look like Royal Bengals, next year . . . They will have the makings of a standout.

Think over this: Faurot took 32 players to Colorado for last Saturday's game. . . . Fifteen of them were sophomores and seven were juniors. . . . That will give him a total of 22 players of two and three years' varsity experience in 1941.

"Besides," says our university informant, "and this is no exaggeration, Missouri has the GREATEST freshman team in the history of the university! . . . It is the biggest and fastest. . . . Everyone here is tickled pink with the yearlings."

Adding all this together, it appears that Faurot will not acquire any more gray hairs this winter. . . . But you still wonder what he's going to do about filling the Christman gap.

To Open Season on Sunday.

The Texas League has arranged its 1941 season with a Sunday opening day.

The Zeller Brothers.

300 Game Rolled in Baden Loop

For the second time in his bowling career, W. Linck rolled a perfect 300 game, while competing with the Bassmeyers team in the Independent League last night at Baden Recreation. He had counts of 162, 300, 229. It was the first 300 game of the season in St. Louis.

OUTDOORS

Tularemia Hysteria.

DURING the past three years so much propaganda has been released concerning tularemia, or rabbit disease, that the cottontail has been placed in the class of the leper. No doubt tularemia is a dangerous ailment and one which must be guarded against, but probably the case has been slightly exaggerated.

According to the United States Public Health Service, in whose employ was Dr. George W. McCoy in 1910 when he made his first study of the disease in Tulare County, California, about one out of every hundred rabbits has the germ. At times, the disease spreads among the rabbits the same as an epidemic among persons.

Not only do rabbits carry the germ, but other animals as well, such as skunk, fox, deer and squirrel; even the bull snake has been accused. Bunnies are responsible for 90 per cent of the cases, however, which resulted in legislation forbidding the importation of rabbits to Connecticut, New Hampshire and Ohio.

Patients.

In 1939, 2200 cases were reported in this country with deaths approximately 150; in '38, the number of cases was 2022 while 139 died.

An enormous percentage came from carrier insects such as horse flies, ants and mosquitos which transferred the germ to a human after paying a visit to some stricken animal.

Preventatives.

There are three major rules to remember to safeguard against tularemia: first, don't pick up a rabbit which was listless and refused to run. Just shoot it and leave it. Second, wear rubber gloves when handling game for sometimes the blood will seep through the tiniest of openings in the skin even when no cut or bruise is apparent. Third, be sure that the meat is well cooked.

A sure test of determining whether or not a rabbit has tularemia is to examine its liver and spleen. If there are small white specks, it means that there is some disorder and should not be eaten.

Pot Shots.

North Dakota is having the best upland game season in years. Especially did visitors flock in for the last of the pheasant and grouse season. . . . The quail season is not bad in Missouri although the cold weather has made it tough on the hunters and tougher on the dogs which have found scenting almost impossible because of the high and shifting winds. . . . Bird banding proved one thing that is still a mystery: that the redbead duck migrates east and west instead of north and south. . . . The next luncheon of the Missouri Conservation Federation is scheduled for Monday, 12:15 p. m., at the American Hotel.

FOUR OHIO HUNTERS KILLED WHEN TRAIN STRIKES AUTO

TIFFIN, O., Nov. 16 (AP).—Four Cleveland hunters were killed today when their automobile was struck by a Baltimore & Ohio passenger train at a crossing in nearby Republic. They were Robert Grant EwelX, Joseph Lee Ryan Jr., Fred William Geisler and James McMyler.

DETROIT, Nov. 16 (AP).—Four persons lost their lives yesterday as Michigan opened its deer season.

Robert Peterson of Sagola was shot accidentally by a companion. Stanley Scholten, 15 years old, of Missaukee County, accidentally killed himself with his rifle. Theodore E. Krauss of Saginaw County died of a heart attack in camp. An automobile bearing hunters struck and killed Dick Buning of Missaukee County.

QUEZON VOWS LOYALTY TO U.S. ON PHILIPPINE ANNIVERSARY

MANILA, Nov. 16 (AP).—Sixty thousand persons, celebrating last night the fifth anniversary of the establishment of the Philippine Commonwealth, heard President Manuel Quezon rededicate the islands to the cause of democracy and independence.

"We rededicate ourselves to the cause of democracy and independence," said Quezon at the cornerstone exercises. "Let ur pledge anew our loyalty to the Government and people of the United States, and make eternal our gratitude to the great American nation under whose benevolent guidance we attained the blessings of liberty, justice and security."

SALES EXECUTIVES TOLD ARMING MAY COST 50 BILLION

Conference Speaker Says Tremendous Sum May Be Expended in Next Five to Seven Years.

The defense program may cost as much as $50,000,000,000 in the next five to seven years but before armament spending gets fully under way there may be a slump in general business activity this winter and after the munitions boom there may be another depression, unless steps are taken to avoid it, speakers warned yesterday at the fourteenth annual Sales Executives Conference at Hotel Jefferson.

Next year probably will bring the first of a series of Government bond selling campaigns similar to the Liberty Loan drives of 1918, said George E. Shea Jr., New York, editor of Barron's National Financial Weekly.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau was conservative in his estimate of the Treasury's needs for the defense program when he asked Congress for an expansion of $16,000,000,000 in the Federal debt limit, Shea said, for "total expenditures on armaments of all kinds by our own Government may run up to as much as 50 billions in the next five to seven years. Some of that will be paid for by larger tax collections, but I don't think much more than half of it can possibly be met with taxes, and I doubt very much we will do anywhere near as well as that."

There may be a slump in business activity before the defense program gets going at full speed, he said, but new high levels probably will be reached after that.

Present Active Business.

Business now is so active that the Federal Reserve Board's monthly index of industrial production is at a record high, he went on, but the belief that this activity is due to defense orders is not correct.

"It probably is fair to say that the defense program so far has had a small effect in actual cash spent by the Government and an additional small effect in preparations made by factories which are sure of getting Government business," he said. "Outside of this there are three main reasons for the current activity of business.

"One is that the country's population has grown, which naturally and normally has boosted the demand for goods. Another is that British buying has provided considerable stimulation in war industries. The third reason is the anticipatory buying being done by businesses in all stages of the manufacturing process, who are afraid of possible price rises or shortages in the materials they need."

Shea discounted the belief that defense buying would have the same effect as a new industry, and would boost national income from its present level of about $70,000,000,000 to $120,000,000,000. Much of the activity in the armament industries, he pointed out, will be made at the expense of other industries.

Other Talks Heard.

J. J. Nance, general sales manager of the Easy Washing Machine Corporation, Syracuse, N. Y., gave warning that defense spending would create a period of synthetic prosperity, during which business executives should prepare for a possible slump with the coming of peace by improving their production and marketing methods and developing new products.

He said: "Once again we are entering a period of synthetic prosperity, just as we did in the last war. In sharp contrast to the decade just past, business for the immediate future, at least, is going to be good. Orders are going up; prices are going up; sales are going up; profits are going up, we hope. If we're not careful, they're going to go to our heads.

"We can't plead any ignorance about the dangers of armament prosperity. Great though the task of building our armament defenses is, it is not the only great problem America faces. We've got a still harder job on our hands in preparing—at the same time—for the peace that lies somewhere in the years ahead. Certainly it seems like the most elementary common sense that business should take advantage of good times to prepare for the bad."

Clarance B. Randall, vice-president of Inland Steel Corporation of Chicago, asserted workers are protected in their right to join unions but there is no protection for those opposed to joining. He said there should be as much room for conscientious objectors to joining unions as for conscientious objectors to war.

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

G.O.P. Wins 13 More Missouri House Seats but Democrats Retain Control

Republicans to Have 65 to 85 for Opponents Who Were Given Balance of Power by Two Big Cities.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 16.—An unofficial compilation of the 150 members elected to the Missouri House of Representatives Nov. 5 shows 85 Democrats and 65 Republicans. This is a gain of 13 seats for the Republicans and a loss of a like number by Democrats.

The compilation was made by the Secretary of State's Department yesterday. The official list will not be available until later, when Representatives-elect present their credentials. Counties do not report the vote on Representatives to the Secretary of State for the official State canvass.

The Democratic total of 85 on the face of the unofficial list is seven more than the required 76 votes to control the House. In the 1939 Legislature the Democrats held 98 seats and the Republicans 52. One Republican, Dr. H. A. Simrell of Cedar County, died during the session.

The unofficial list shows that the two major cities, St. Louis and Kansas City, give the Democrats the balance of power in the House. St. Louis has a solidly Democratic delegation of 19, and Kansas City nine Democrats and one Republican.

PEDESTRIAN'S LEG BROKEN BY AUTO THAT GOES ON

Carl Knaus, a real estate salesman, 3509 Missouri avenue, suffered a fractured right leg when he was struck by an automobile at Jefferson avenue and Potomac street shortly before last midnight.

The driver failed to stop and witnesses furnished police with a license number, which was traced to a laborer residing in Lemay. The man, held for questioning, denied knowledge of the accident and police said his automobile was not damaged. Knaus is in City Hospital.

FUNERAL OF JUSTICE JONES

Services at Carrollton, Ill., Tomorrow at 2:30 P. M.

CARROLLTON, Ill., Nov. 16 (AP).—Funeral services for Norman L. Jones, 70-year-old Chief Justice of Illinois, who died yesterday in Jacksonville, will be tomorrow.

His fellow members of the State Supreme Court, State officials and many friends planned to attend the services at the First Methodist Church here at 2:30 p. m. He will be buried in Carrollton cemetery.

MANY SPIES IN U. S., F. B. I. AGENT SAYS

Foreign spies and espionage systems are at work in this country in large numbers, J. E. Thornton, in charge of the office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Springfield, Ill., told a meeting of the Southern Division of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association in Belleville last night. National defense was the theme of the meeting, attended by about 200 business men and bankers.

An important task of the F. B. I. is to break up the espionage systems, Thornton said, adding he was confident the bureau would handle the job as effectively as it did the kidnaping problem.

To do the job, he said, the F. B. I. has 1340 investigators, working out of 53 offices, and has a central reservoir of 13,000,000 sets of fingerprints. The number of investigators soon will be increased to 1500, he said.

The work of individual volunteer spies, unobtrusive zealots who have gained confidence of their neighbors and employers and who may have been employed in industrial plants for many years, is the most difficult to uncover, Thornton said. Organized groups, usually directed and supplied with funds from coastal cities, are less difficult to discover, he said.

The F. B. I. is keeping watch on the German-American Bund and the Communist party, he said, adding that some action will be taken in event of an emergency. He predicted that many aliens would leave the United States before the end of the year rather than register and submit to fingerprinting.

Maj. R. J. Hogan of the St. Louis Ordnance District described work of the Ordnance Department as the supply arm of the military service, stating that in the defense program private industry must fill a greater part of the need for materials and supplies. Ordinarily the requirements are met almost entirely by manufacture in Government arsenals, he said.

"Plans for defense procurement are as complicated as a mathematical formula," he declared. "In Abyssinia every warrior brings his own spear and his own cook but it is not so simple in civilized countries. The Ordnance Department must design, develop, procure, inspect, store, issue and maintain materials and supplies."

R. Verne Mitchell of Cleveland, O., governor of the Investment Bankers' Association of America, advocated use of private capital rather than Government funds in industrial expansion. He urged removal by the Government of "unnecessary restrictions on industry" to restore confidence of investors and permit a flow of capital to provide jobs for the unemployed.

TWO-STATE TOWN IN DILEMMA OVER THANKSGIVING DAYS

Half in Ohio and Half in Pennsylvania Which Observes Different Date.

ORANGEVILLE, O., Nov. 16 (AP).—Citizens of this village are having Thanksgiving troubles. Part of the village is in Ohio, which observes Thanksgiving Nov. 21, and part in Pennsylvania, which marks the holiday Nov. 28.

Orangeville's population is about 500. One side of Main street is in Ohio's Trumbull County and 264 persons are Buckeyes. The rest of the people live on the other side of the street.

Mayor N. R. Williams lives in Ohio and will celebrate Nov. 21, but under protest. He prefers the traditional last Thursday in November, but is acceding because all the Ohio business places will be closed on the former date.

Druggist D. A. Tennant resides on the Pennsylvania side and will have his cranberry sauce on the 28th. But he's running into trouble. The Ohio friends he invited for dinner are coming on the 21st. He says he may have to eat two Thanksgiving dinners.

The Rev. B. A. Wilson, pastor of the Baptist Church, which is in Pennsylvania, has townspeople from both states in his congregation. The congregation literature sent him by church headquarters is released for the 21st, so he will observe that date.

Announcer Don Wilson to Wed.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 16 (AP).—Peggy Kent, 24 years old, daughter of Sidney Kent, president of Twentieth Century-Fox Studios, and Don Wilson, 40, radio announcer, will be married Tuesday. It will be Wilson's second marriage and Miss Kent's fourth.

MOTHER SEES SUSPECT IN ABDUCTION SHOT

Police Waiting in Apartment Wound Youth Carrying Toy Weapon.

BOSTON, Nov. 16 (AP).—Shot by police before the eyes of his mother, sister and brother as he entered their home, Paul V. Gould, 20 years old, indicted as the abductor of a Vermont father and son, is in a serious condition today in a hospital.

The shooting last night ended a search by police, postal inspectors and Federal Bureau of Investigation agents after the abduction victims—a rural mail carrier and a 3-year-old boy—were released Thursday night in Boston.

Patrolman William Quinn and John Smith said they fired in the belief that an object in Gould's hand was a revolver. They discovered later that it was a toy weapon.

The policemen, stationed in the family's second-floor apartment on the chance that he might appear there, were sitting in the kitchen talking to Mrs. Elsie Gould, the mother, and the brother and sister, when Gould walked in.

Gould, a parolee from Concord Reformatory, was indicted yesterday on charges of kidnaping, assault with intent to rob a mail carrier and obstructing the United States mail.

Harold O. Flint, 42, South Royalton (Vt.) mail carrier, told police that while he was making his rounds Thursday, accompanied by his son, Gould, armed with a shotgun, entered the Flint automobile and forced him to drive 200 miles to Boston.

He said Gould, employed recently as a farmhand in Vermont, robbed him of $42.

Padberg Enrolls Son as Lawyer.

Judge Eugene L. Padberg enrolled his son, Eugene L. Padberg Jr., as a lawyer yesterday in Circuit Court. The younger Padberg, a graduate of Washington University School of Law, recently passed the State bar examination.

M. A. BEFFA GETS LEGION POST

Martin A. Beffa, 4632 Shenandoah avenue, was elected chairman of the Commanders' Conference of the American Legion, succeeding Walter J. Frey, last night at Soldiers' Memorial. The conference represents the 45 posts here, which have about 7000 members.

Other new officers are Edwin Frankman, vice-chairman; Louis Anweiler, historian, and Alfred J. Hempen, sergeant-at-arms. Frank H. Fletcher, secretary, and Ralph W. Suedmeyer, treasurer, were re-elected.

A. BEFFA GETS LEGION POST

Martin A. Beffa, 4632 Shenandoah avenue, was elected chairman of the Commanders' Conference of the American Legion, succeeding Walter J. Frey, last night at Soldiers' Memorial. The conference represents the 45 posts here, which have about 7000 members. Other new officers are Edwin Eckman, vice-chairman; Louis Keller, historian, and Alfred J. Koepen, sergeant-at-arms. Frank M. Fletcher, secretary, and Ralph Kluedmeyer, treasurer, were re-elected.

Doctor Lists Facts About Vitamin B

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

THE vitamins in the food are necessary for health. How they act is a mystery, but we know that if they are left out of the diet certain symptoms occur. Vitamin B is the one that was discovered in the Orient where in other days a form of paralysis, called beri-beri, was very prevalent. It was found the victims of beri-beri lived exclusively on a rice diet and they polished their rice—removed the outer shell by a form of milling.

When whole rice was substituted the beri-beri did not occur, and it was found that the use of whole rice would cure beri-beri.

As chemical research in the vitamins went on, it was found that Vitamin B was not one substance but several. It is found in nature in cereals and yeast and as now understood, there are eight or 10 elements in the Vitamin B factor—Vitamin B1, B2, B3, B4, B5, B6, Vitamins H, W and U.

B1 is chemically thiamine chloride. There is quite a fad just now in its use. It will undoubtedly cure certain forms of paralysis. The paralysis that occurs in heavy drinkers called "alcoholic neuritis" is undoubtedly due to lack of the vitamins in the diet. It is used for many conditions of general debility and, in fact, even used to encourage the growth of plants.

B2 is chemically riboflavin. It has no influence on paralysis, but a peculiar condition results from its absence in the diet, consisting of soreness of the tongue, fissures around the lips and roughness of the skin.

These are something like the disease called pellagra—a deficiency disease that results from living on a diet of preserved foods—salt pork, molasses, corn pone, etc.—a common winter diet in some parts of the South. The element in the Vitamin B factor that prevents pellagra is nocitinic acid. Riboflavin deficiency resembles pellagra.

B3, B4, B5 and B6 deficiency will cause certain animal diseases but no analogy is found in man. B3 is necessary for weight gains in pigeons. B4 prevents a form of paralysis in rats; B5 is necessary for normal nutrition in pigeons. B6 is known as the rat dermatitis factor. Vitamin W is part of the B factor and acts to stimulate riboflavin. Vitamin V is another growth stimulating factor.

The latest development of Vitamin B research is that one part of the complex, when absent in the diet, results in premature graying of the hair. These experiments have been made on rats and have not been confirmed in man.

Questions and Answers.

A. E., Champaign, Ill.—"Will sodium phosphate thin the blood and cause one to become anemic?"

Answer—No! The action of sodium phosphate is that of a simple saline cathartic.

I. L.—"What is the cause of burning feet at night; generally more so under the feet?"

Answer—This may be due to ringworm infection or it may be due to having had chilblains and it may be due to change in the arteries. The treatment in all cases is definite.

S. S., Passaic, N. J.—"Is appendicitis hereditary? What are the symptoms? What diet should be given the convalescent who is overweight?"

Answer—No, appendicitis is not hereditary. Symptoms of appendicitis are fever, nausea, vomiting, pain in the abdomen which begins in the pit of the stomach, moves to the umbilicus and settles usually in the lower right hand corner of the abdomen. However, the pain of appendicitis can be anywhere in the abdomen. Better not monkey with the diet of a convalescent from appendicitis for any reason.

Dancing With Danger By Rob Eden

CHAPTER THIRTY.

WHEN the door closed behind Avery, Mrs. Engle untied the handkerchief that covered Madge's eyes. She blinked in the brightness of the room, lit by a single electric bulb dropped from the ceiling. Glancing curiously about she saw it was a small room, apparently used as bedroom at some time as there was a cot against the wall.

There also were two chairs, one a cane rocker and the other a common kitchen chair, although sturdier than ordinary. A washstand stood against the wall, opposite the cot. A dingy carpet, which apparently had had a flowered pattern, but was now merely a mass of rather unappetizing brown, covered the floor.

"You might as well sit down," Mrs. Engle suggested, and sank into the rocker herself. There was only one door leading out of the room, the door through which Avery had disappeared before Madge's eyes had been unbandaged.

It was useless to think of escape, the girl knew, as Avery and the others probably were in a nearby room.

As a matter of fact Avery, Roland Beatty, Louis Tatum and Dan Nichols were close at hand. This was the other meeting place to which they had come when Avery became frightened the Court street house. Engle was with them, too, standing with his back against the outer door.

"Well, we've really made a catch this time," Avery told the others, but there was no elation in his voice. Rather there was a bitter, grating tone that indicated he was far from pleased by developments. His steely eyes swept the group before him and his long thin face took on a mask-like quality.

"Madge Kendall, daughter of Forbes Kendall, was caught by the Engles inside the Court street house," he went on in an even, flat voice. "She was hiding behind a couch in the room in the basement, so she heard everything that was said while we were there."

"Madge Kendall!" Dan Nichols exclaimed. He clearly was startled by the news.

"Surprises you, does it, Dan?" Avery asked, sarcastically.

Avery shrugged his stooped shoulders.

"The young woman obviously is very clever," he commented, "or she had help!" As he uttered the last word he glanced swiftly at Dan, his eyes seeming to bore through those of the younger man. The color slowly receded from Dan's face, leaving his skin a pasty white.

"If you mean—" he started.

"Never mind. We'll get to that later," Avery interrupted. "As I said, Miss Kendall was in that room all the time we were there. She not only heard all that was said, but a young woman as smart as she is undoubtedly recognized us. As a matter of fact, I think names were mentioned in our conversation."

"What are we going to do?" It was Beatty who asked this question in a worried tone.

"Oh, surely there's some other way—maybe we can frighten her into keeping still," Dan protested, his face reflecting the inner turmoil Avery's statement had had on him.

Avery's eyes again bored into Dan's, and he stood for nearly a minute staring at him before he spoke.

"There is only one penalty for spying and treachery," he said. "The same penalty there is in the army in time of war."

"See here," Beatty protested, "I don't much care about this idea of killing a woman myself. There have been removals before, I know, but they were persons who didn't matter much. How are we going to get away with this? You must remember her father's a prominent man, a candidate for Mayor."

* * *

AVERY shifted his gaze on the District Attorney and Beatty's effort to face him out was a flat failure. His eyes dropped for a moment of trying to outstare his chief.

"Are you questioning my authority?" Avery asked, quietly. The deadly menace in his voice sent a chill through every man in the room. Even Engle moved uneasily in his position by the door.

"Oh, of course not, Mr. Avery," Beatty apologized, humbly, "but I thought—"

"When I want your advice I'll ask for it," Avery cut him off.

"You've made your plans already, haven't you, Mr. Avery?" Tatum asked, obsequiously.

"None of you has anything to worry about. Miss Kendall will be found in her car at the foot of a bluff below the Heights. Everyone knows that's a dangerous road, especially at night."

"But are you sure that she'll be—" Beatty started.

"That will be taken care of, Beatty. She'll have no chance to survive the plunge. Miss Kendall will have ceased to exist before the car goes over the bluff. Does that answer your doubts, gentlemen?"

"It's horrible! It's outright murder!" Dan cried, half hysterically.

"I thought maybe you'd break," Avery observed, quietly. "Perhaps you'd like to go in and see your little friend and console her in her last hours on earth. You'll probably have lots to talk about, you two. Pretty thick with her, weren't you?"

"If you mean I had anything to do with her coming to the Court street place, you're mistaken, Mr. Avery," Dan protested, fear reflected in his voice at the man's intimation. "I swear I know nothing about what she's been doing."

"Then how do you account for the fact that she found the place, found a way to get in so she could spy on us? It would be quite a feather in your cap, wouldn't it, to expose our little group? Perhaps Kendall would fix you up with a nice fat job. You might get elected to an office yourself. It might be an idea with possibilities, but it just won't work out, Nichols."

"Do you mean to say that this rat has been—" Beatty began.

"I tell you it's not true!" Dan insisted, desperately. "I'd no more think of double crossing you boys than I'd think of—" "Double crossing Kendall?" Avery suggested, ironically.

"That not fair," Dan protested. "You knew from the start how I stood on Kendall—on the whole Reform League setup. That's been a blind you've been using for a long time. You can't say I haven't always been on the level with you, Mr. Avery. I've done everything I've been supposed to do, and a lot more besides."

"Then why do you defend this girl? You know she can ruin the lot of us. The only reason our little group has existed so long has been because we've always acted quickly when danger threatened. Bryce's fate should have proved that to you, in case you had any doubts.

"He made the mistake of getting too close to the trail. Now another person has done the same thing. The fact that she happens to be a girl—quite a pretty young woman, in fact—makes not the slightest difference. She has put herself in our way."

"Surely you can see the logic of that, Dan?" Beatty put in. "What does this girl mean to you, anyway?"

Nichols was silent for some time, debating in his mind whether he should make one final effort to save Madge's life. It might not be worth making, but it was a desperate chance. He'd take it.

"The fact is, gentlemen," he said, slowly, "is that I'm in love with Madge Kendall. I've asked her to marry me."

If he had hoped to move Avery by his revelation, he was disappointed. The tall man's thin lips merely set in a straighter, more determined line.

"In that case," he said, "you'd probably like to have a few final words with her." He turned to Engle.

"Better search Mr. Nichols for weapons, Engle," he suggested, casually. "The young lady might slip his gun from his pocket and make a bit of trouble for us. We don't want any trouble, you know."

Dan thought for a moment of putting up a fight, but discarded it as useless. He was outnumbered four to one by men who wouldn't hesitate to kill him on the spot if he made one move.

He submitted quietly to being searched, but he had a sinking feeling when Engle removed a small automatic from his side coat pocket and handed it over to Avery. Then Engle patted his clothes to make sure there were no other weapons, and stood back, waiting for further orders.

"Unlock the door and show Mr. Nichols into the next room," Avery ordered. "Tell your wife to come out, so the lovers can be together."

Dan walked slowly through the door, knowing that he, too, hadn't long to live. What had happened to Mike Frankau was about to happen to him.

Teach Child To Sleep in His Own Bed

By Angelo Patri

CHILDREN waken in the night and cry. They are cold, they are ill, or they are frightened, and they call for help. That cry must be answered. It is cruel to let a child cry for help in the night and get no answer. But don't, if you value your nights' rest for time to come, take the child into your bed.

The instant he is taken into your bed he relaxes and goes to sleep unless he is ill. Night fears, loneliness, wakefulness are immediately vanished once he reaches the safety of your bed. That is fine. He goes to sleep and so do you.

Next night he cries again and again you go to comfort him and again he is taken into your bed. The next night he won't wait for you to come for him. He will scramble out of his bed and into yours with the swiftness of a flying squirrel and you are lucky indeed if he does not refuse to go to his own bed at all after that.

This habit, once set, is hard to break. Nobody with any humanity in him can let a lonely child cry in the night. But nobody with a feeling for his own comfort and an understanding of his child's development, will allow that habit to be set in the first place.

Go to the crying child and see what is wrong. If he is cold put a cover on him, give him a hot water bottle, close the window a bit, make him see that he is quite all right and leave him. You may even have to take a chair and stay a while, but be sure to sit a little distance from his bed. If you stay, keep still. Don't talk, tell no stories, sing no songs. Just be still. This will be no fun for him and he soon will cease to call for you.

* * *

CHILDREN SHOULD sleep in a room by themselves if that is possible. They ought not to sleep with older people at any time. If they must sleep in the same room they need not sleep in the same bed. There always is a way out. Cribs are cheap and, at the worst, one can be made. The child must learn to sleep alone, through the night, and not depend upon anybody to entertain him for an interval between sleeps. Nobody is to go to bed with him, sing or talk him to sleep at any time. Such practices are bad for sleeping habits.

Nervous children waken in the night. Give such children a night light which they can turn on easily. Tell them to turn on their light and read the book you left for them. Let this book be more picture than print and choose pictures that are comforting. Religious pictures are just the thing.

Teach these children to look at their pictures, say their prayers, then go to sleep again without waking other people. They soon learn to be thoughtful, to attend to themselves and let the family rest. If somebody holds hands with them, sings and reads and talks and scolds, they like it and continue their program. Sleeping properly is largely a habit and once set it is likely to stay set for many years. Try to set it to the advantage of the children and the older members of the family.

It isn't fair to allow your child to form disagreeable little habits that will make other people dislike him, or her. Be guided by Angelo Patri's booklet, "Annoying Habits." Send for it, enclosing 10 cents in coin. Address Angelo Patri, care St. Louis Post-Dispatch, P. O. Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y.

CHOCOLATE MINT SAUCE.

This sauce plus a quart of vanilla ice cream means a delightful end to a good dinner. Three-quarters cup cold water, two squares chocolate, one cup sugar, one-half cup white syrup, one-eighth teaspoon salt, three tablespoons butter, two teaspoons vanilla, three drops oil of peppermint. Melt chocolate in water and stir until smooth. Add sugar, syrup and salt and stir until dissolved. Boil rapidly for three minutes, then add butter, vanilla and mint. Serve at once.

Greater Hand Beauty

By Patricia Lindsay

IT is true that during the winter season our hands are more in evidence that during the play months. So they must be kept attractive by the usual weekly manicure and daily massage with lotion. Your nails may be as long and as oval as your duties will permit. But if you play the piano, do housework or typewrite you will find that too long nails are usually in the way. The main thing is to keep the nail nicely shaped no matter what its length and to keep it nicely polished either with lacquer or buffer.

If your fingers are not kept limber your hand will appear to be clumsy and awkward. Sometimes avocations which require repeated finger action stiffen the hands. The constant use of only certain muscles is not good for the hand and if you find this is happening to you by all means practice finger exercises several times a week to give the neglected hand muscles a workout. Here are a few which will bring grace of movement to your fingers if practiced regularly:

Take a polo ball or tennis ball. Hold it. The idea behind this exercise is that most people cannot co-ordinate the action of their fingers. They can make their index and second fingers move at will but it is almost impossible to move the third and little fingers without lifting the fingers next to them. Try and see.

Clasp the ball in your palm, fold the fingers over it and press firmly. Now try lifting first one finger and then the other while the rest of the fingers stay close to the ball. It can be done—but it requires practice! The results are worth it when the hand is gracefully supple!

Now pretend you are playing an imaginary tune on an imaginary piano. Bend the hands back from the wrist and poise them like a musician. Begin playing a tune. You might hum it to yourself as you play—that helps. If you haven't the least idea how to play a piano that need not deter you, simply pretend. The fingers move up and down and almost snap. This gives grace to the wrists.

The final exercise is one for a special hand condition that is no respecter of age—that is hand swelling. You do a species of jitterbugging for the swollen hands. Hold your arms with the elbows bent and the knuckles on a level with your shoulders—squirrel fashion. Then shake your hands vigorously back and forth—wiggling each finger separately and waggling the whole hand. You may look a bit peculiar but no matter. You will find that the swelling subsides shortly after this exercise.

IF YOU ASK My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:

I WOULD like to say a few words to the "Mother," so worried for fear a couple in the apartment was not married. Why is it, "Mother" that you continue to live in a place where you question the judgment of the landlady? Is it because the rent is cheaper, the heat better, or because other landladies will not take people with children? I have been a landlady in St. Louis for 10 years, and I have known hundreds of wives who retained their maiden names for business reasons. One cannot always jump at conclusions. From my personal experience I would say that if "Mother" would devote her time to the proper care and education of her youngsters, she would have no time to snoop about and wonder concerning the legal marriage of other people.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

DISGUSTED LANDLADY.

Dear Martha Carr:

WHERE CAN I get a list of boarding schools in St. Louis and Missouri where a boy, age 5, could be sent without too much expense? WONDERING.

You can get such a list from the educational directories at the Public Library, or if you live outside of town and will send me a stamped self-addressed envelope, I will mail you such a list, though it is not always possible to tell whether the schools would take a child that young. He is pitifully young to be sent away from home, to my mind.

Dear Martha Carr:

CAN YOU OB some of your readers tell me if Sammy Kaye, orchestra leader, had an orchestra about 18 years ago called "The Goodrich Broadcasters"? Or did he go under the name of "Sam Lanin and His Troubadours"? I have a "Cameo" recording which sounds very much like Sammy Kaye, dated 1922. FRANK.

As far as I can determine, Sammy Kaye has never used another name, but it is possible some of my readers might shed some light on this for you.

★ ★ ★

Dear Martha Carr:

I HAVE BEEN told there is a method by which waves can be cut into the hair. Is there a place in St. Louis where I can have this done? H. G.

What you refer to is called a "scissors wave," but the hair, to be so treated, must already have a partial wave. Strictly speaking, straight hair cannot be made curly by this type of wave. This wave is given in St. Louis, and I suggest you call the Beauty Salons of the large department stores to find out more about it.

Dear Martha Carr:

CAN YOU TELL me when there was an epidemic of black diphtheria here in St. Louis? It took so many from so many families. It must have been 40 or more years ago. This is important to me, please. MRS. C. B.

In the years 1886-1887, diphtheria prevailed alarmingly in St. Louis and there were 1840 deaths. There was another siege of it in 1895, but at that time, though there were 3196 cases, there were only 526 deaths. I have no way of knowing to which of these dates you refer.

TODAY'S PATTERNS

Pattern 4613 is available in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 6, dress, takes 4 yards 39-inch fabric. Send 15 cents for this pattern to Patern Department, St. Louis Post-Dispatch, 243 West 17th street, New York, N. Y. Addtional 10 cents will bring you latest Pattern Book.

Whether it's for tea cloth, towel, pillow case or scarf, you'll find a suitable motif in this collection. Each is done mainly in running stitch. Pattern 2652 contains a transfer pattern of 10 motifs ranging from 2x2¼ to 5½x14½ inches; materials required; illustrations of stitches.

Send 10 cents in coin for this pattern to St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Needlecraft Dept., 82 Eighth avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly pattern number, your name and address.

Social Usage

A RULE that was followed by every one a generation ago has, in the present day, become confusing and useless. It is this one about mailing cards to the hostess giving a reception or a tea when the invitation did not request an answer. One who could not go to the tea was expected to post her (or his) visiting card on the day before the reception, so that the hostess would receive it in the early morning mail, and know about how many guests to prepare for. Apart from consideration for her, it was important to those who wanted to keep their names on the hostess's list, which was each year compiled from the cards, either sent to her by mail, or left with her in person.

Today R. S. V. P. is put on a card or else the hostess guesses how many to prepare for. "Visiting lists" are no longer kept, but cards either sent as regrets, or left in the hall at the tea, serve as reminders to a hostess whose intentions are friendly, but who might easily forget to invite unthought-of strangers.

DEAR MRS. POST: When is a bride too old to wear a white bride's dress and veil? Does this time depend on actual age or how she looks for her age?

Answer: It depends on how she looks for her age, and whether the veil will be becoming or unbecoming to her, and I might add further that a cream-colored veil is much more flattering to a fading skin than a pure white one, and a lace veil is more suitable than a tulle one.

DEAR MRS. POST: I am married, and my name is no longer the same as that of my brother, who is a doctor. In making introductions, may I properly introduce my brother as Dr. John Well, or would it be improper to say: " . . . my brother, Dr. Well?" I believe you have said that one does not use titles for members of one's own family.

Answer: It is quite proper to use a title if you make a pause in between. If you say, "My brother"—wait a second and then add for information, "Dr. Well." Or "My brother's name is Dr. John Well."

DEAR MRS. POST: My husband was killed several months ago in a motor accident. He was looking forward so eagerly to the birth of our first child, which should be almost any day now. I would like to send announcements of the child's birth just as we expected to had my husband lived. I know he would want me to, but in a posthumous case like this, is it proper for the mother alone to send birth announcements, and how would her name be written? I mean to send only the little fill-in announcements that can be bought at our neighborhood stationer's.

Answer: You write "Mrs. John H. Smith," and then the baby's name filled in. On no account write "Mrs. Mary."

Don't Take My Word for It

By Frank Colby

OUR OWN WORD QUIZ.

QUESTION: How should bakelite be pronounced? E. O. M.

Answer: The word is not from bake, but from Baekeland, the name of the discoverer of bakelite. The word has three syllables: BAY-kuh-lite.

Question: I've always heard that "cute" means "bowlegged." Right? M. Mc.

Question: Please pronounce bestial. A. B. L.

Answer: Although the word means "like a beast," the first syllable is not "beast," but "best," as: BEST-yul or BEST-chul.

Question: How did the word slang originate?

Answer: The origin is obscure. One theory is that slang derived from the word language, as in "thieve(s' lang) uage; beggar(s' lang)uage."

Question: Is it ever correct to say, "I am through with the book"?

Question: Please pronounce chemurgy and chemurgic. D. N. G.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

by WYNN

Sunday, November 17.

BACKGROUND vibrations today are not as good as outer appearances would make us believe, so let's rest up and not take too much for granted. Week ahead is much more active, mentally and physically, than usual; watch consequences all the way.

Self-reliance.

To what extent does hero worship diminish our self-reliance? It all depends on the individual. Do you let others do your thinking for you? Who makes your decisions, you or the conclusion of someone you admire? Your decision under certain circumstances could be the same as that of your hero; but are you sure it is really yours? Analyze the amount of influence you invite or permit from others.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead from anniversary today is changeful, shifting. Opportunities, obstacles, confront you through deserved good will or the opposite of all your equals—past presents its bill.

Danger: Dec. 15-31; May 2-10.

Monday, November 18.

TODAY'S background is full of oppositions, in both personal and bigger ways. Watch everything that is long distance. In smaller concerns, however, we have better vibrations; attend to details, make minor decisions, look ahead.

Inner Conflict.

Part of the trouble with most people, and with the race as a whole, today, is the fact that in our characters we have irreconcilables. That is, we give room in the various parts of our minds and in our desire natures to opposites that simply cannot all be right. In this way we defeat our own better purposes, for we unconsciously yield our higher impulses to our worse and more selfish ones.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead from anniversary today continues changing, perhaps upsetting influences with debts from past and responsibilities to undertake. Gains through good will of others from April. Danger: Dec. 17-21; and May 3-11.

Tuesday.

A Brighter Breakfast Nook

Sometimes in a city house, due to a poor exposure, the breakfast nook is not as cheery as you would desire. Bright curtains, such as yellow glazed chintz, or gay cretonnes, will do a great deal towards brightening up this nook which should be particularly cheerful.

FRUIT served raw or as sauce is good, but a fruit filling on a rolled peanut cookie is better. The dough and filling can both be made up and stored separately in the refrigerator until you wish to bake them and serve them warm and fresh. These fruit-filled peanut cookies may make such a hit that you'll want to double the recipe.

Fruit-Filled Peanut Cookies.

Two cups all-purpose flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-fourth cup butter, one-fourth cup peanut butter, one cup sugar, one egg, beaten, two tablespoons milk.

Sift flour, measure and resift twice with baking powder and salt. Cream butter, blend with peanut butter and stir in sugar well. Add beaten egg and beat until smooth. Add flour mixture and milk alternately, mixing thoroughly. Roll out to about one-eighth inch thickness on floured board and cut out with cookie cutter. Place half the cookies on a buttered baking sheet and drop a teaspoon of fruit filling in the center of each. Cover with a second cookie and press edges firmly together. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees) for seven or eight minutes, or until delicately browned. Cool on cake racks. Makes about two and one-half dozen cookies. Fruit filling:

Breakfast.

Dinner.

Liver loaf—One and one-fourth pounds ground beef liver, one cup milk, two tablespoons melted butter, three eggs, one tablespoon grated onion, one-eighth teaspoon nutmeg, two and one-half teaspoons salt, one and one-half cup breadcrumbs. Baked potatoes — Two pounds potatoes. Creamed green beans—No. 2 tin green beans, two cups white sauce. Bread and butter—Ten slices bread, butter. Applesauce cake—One and three-fourths cups cake flour, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon cloves, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half cup shortening, one cup seedless raisins, one cup sugar, one cup unsweetened applesauce. Coffee—Four tablespoons (adults). Milk for children.

Supper.

Parsley butter sandwiches—Ten slices bread, butter, one-fourth cup chopped parsley. Fruit-filled peanut cookies—Recipe already given. Cocoa (for all)—Three and one-half tablespoons cocoa, five cups milk, sugar.

Cost for day: 'About $1.35.

Brussels sprouts and cauliflower may still be had, and both are moderately priced. Additions to your holiday menu, such as celery and onions for dressings, and pumpkins for pies, are plentiful.

How It Started

By Jean Newton

Why Is It Called the "Arctic?"

It is no accident—rather it is logical—that the frigid regions in the North should be known as the Arctic.

It is from the circumstance that the constellation called the Great Bear circles the North Star that the frozen areas at the top of the world came to be called the Arctic.

And, to settle a bet, both "c's" in Arctic should be pronounced.

West Makes Bad Guess in Bridge Game

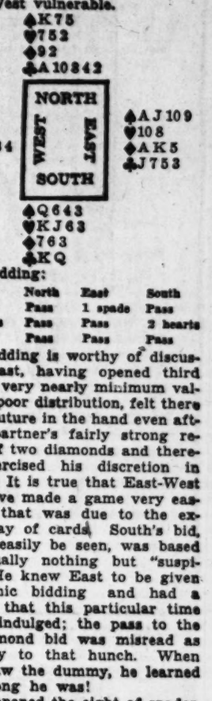

By Ely Culbertson

THERE is no denying the fact that at times players are forced to rely upon nothing more than a sheer guess. But this should be a last resource, to be used only when all logical forms of investigation have failed. There is no excuse for guessing when a surer avenue to knowledge exists

East-West vulnerable.

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 diamonds	Pass	Pass	2 hearts
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

The bidding is worthy of discussion. East, having opened third hand on very nearly minimum values and poor distribution, felt there was no future in the hand even after his partner's fairly strong response of two diamonds and therefore exercised his discretion in passing. It is true that East-West could have made a game very easily, but that was due to the excellent lay of cards. South's bid, as may easily be seen, was based on virtually nothing but "suspicion." He knew East to be given to psychic bidding and had a "hunch" that this particular time he had indulged; the pass to the two diamond bid was misread as testimony to that hunch. When South saw the dummy, he learned how wrong he was!

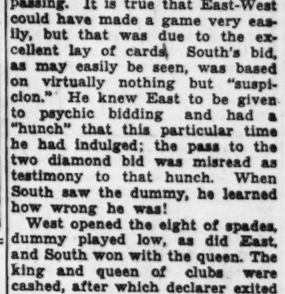

West opened the eight of spades, dummy played low, as did East, and South won with the queen. The king and queen of clubs were cashed, after which declarer exited with a low diamond. West put up the eight and East overtook with the king in order to lead a trump. Declarer covered the 10 of hearts with the jack and West won with the queen.

Now, West made a bad guess. He jumped to the conclusion that South's bid could not possibly have been based on less than five trumps and that being so, that East had no more trumps to lead through. Therefore, in order to prevent dummy from ruffing diamonds, West laid down the ace and the nine of trumps, the latter card being played to prevent dummy's seven from becoming an entry for the club ace. Obviously, however, the lead of the nine of hearts from the 9-4 went into declarer's tenace of K-6 and saved him a trump trick.

There was no reason whatever for West to guess about the heart situation. There was a way for him to find out surely. All he had to do was to lead the deuce of spades. East would win, and if he had another heart, would, of course, lead it; if not, he would play the spade ace and now West, on the knowledge that he could not expect another heart lead from partner, would ruff East's trick with the four spot and lead out the ace and nine. Since his actual method of play made the four of hearts worthless, this would have cost nothing. True, it would have meant only one more trick for the defenders, but these differences are reflected very decidedly in the match-point score.
